FOREWORD

I am glad to welcome the Class of 1912 to its twenty-fifth reunion. My own twenty-fifth reunion occurred last year and you are therefore contemporaries.

While you and I were undergraduates I had the great pleasure of visiting Brown and formed impressions at that time which my acquaintanceship has strengthened. I hope we may work together for the advancement of the ideals and increase of the resources of this University.

HENRY M. WRISTON.

REMEMBERING PREXY

BY WILLIAM HENDERSON ROBERTSON

MEMORY is ever full of unexpected omissions and inexplicable retentions. An odd synthesis of remembered things; a composition of trifles and importances. A witty sally from Johnny Greene outlasting all of Terrence's plays. A salty criticism from Lindsay Todd Damon surviving many invigorating lectures. A panorama of classes stirred and vitalized by Dean Meiklejohn's quick rejoinders and keen mind still real while the principles of Logic have long since lost their identity in the fabric of living.

Yes, there stands the Past, close and distant — it does not matter which — both yesterday and a decade's yesterday blot out a myriad details of living and leave only squares and rounds. They do not fit: they are but monuments to things unrecallable and precious.

And so to remember Prexy Faunce after twenty-five years.

We remember our roommates, our classmates, our professors. With them we were familiar in our daily routine. But to recall Prexy is to grope back a quarter of a century and lay hold of less than a few intimate contacts and a trouping rank of chapel mornings. We cannot recapture enough of him; only the fragments of our feelings about him which were not primarily personal feelings but a composition and a reflection of the feelings of all those very young men on the campus, few of whom knew him at all except by name and sight. What pattern of the man can we fashion from such tenuous material?

We can remember that Prexy was Prexy in all that the name implies to college men. There was an air of Olympian detachment about him, a dignity of voice and bearing which was as much a part of him as his fine face. Who ever recalled then that he was not a tall man, not broad of shoulder, not robust? An Olympian sweep of outlook, too. He seemed always to see the University as a whole — never bit by bit. He did not really know you as you, which is probably why so few of us knew him as he must have been — the man, himself. He knew you only as a part of the whole. He would not be a Gulliver to the Lilliputian threads of the infinite daily and individual problems which seethe in any human community. It was this attitude which saved his strength and his talents for those problems of administration vital to the health and growth of the University. In a sense, he personified the Administration and graced it. One thought of Brown and of Prexy almost as one and the same; there was a dignity of thought and spirit common to both.

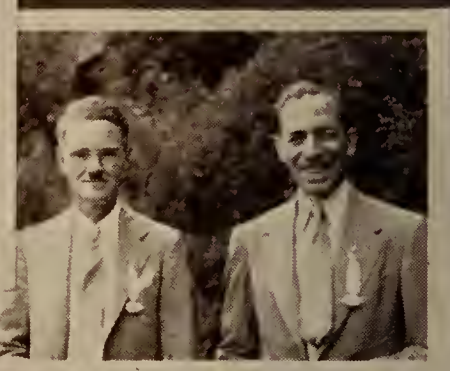

Prexy has been described as truly Greek and properly so. A speaker of first rank, his orations had all the chaste severity and simple beauty of a Greek sculpture and those qualities were a perfect complement to a voice whose bell-like clarity of tone and power needed no assistance from our present day amplifiers. He spoke without prejudice or passion and always with informing understanding and vision.

Small of stature he came to Brown to undertake a herculean task — to replace a man whose personality and color had caught the imagination and loyalty of Brown men and especially of the undergraduate body. Probably no college president ever faced a more delicate task than did President Faunce. It is not easy to assume the reins of a college even with an indifferent student body; it is immeasurably difficult to do so with a latently hostile student body. New gods will not be tolerated while the old gods still sit in the shrines of memory. But Prexy performed the miracle. To follow President Andrews was too much to ask of any man and Dr. Faunce did not attempt it. He did not follow Benny — he took up the burden where Benny had laid it down, but he carried it in his own way and on a different course. The presidency became less a receptacle of vivid personality; more the epitome of Brown. Prexy stuck to his last, avoiding dissension and strife, never seeking personal distinction, devoting all of his gifts to Brown, building the prestige and financial strength of the University. He did not proselytize the Andrews men; he let time work for him and shortly the Andrews men had gone on with their beloved legend. Thereafter, there was but one President of Brown, not in fact alone, but in the hearts of Brown men.

1912 salutes its Prexy — a Christian, a gentleman, a scholar and a great administrator whose service to Brown can be appreciated but not measured.

Requiescat in pace.

REUNION SNAPSHOTS

THE TWENTY-FIFTH REUNION

BY WARREN RANDOLPH BURGESS

ON a rather wet and bleak Friday in June the members of the class began assembling at Green's Inn at Narragansett Pier for their twenty-fifth reunion, and before the week-end was over sixty-two members of the class had made an appearance. There was less hair on the heads that came through the door of the Inn, and what remained was usually a bit sprinkled with grey, but time had generally treated the members of the class kindly, and all had interesting stories to tell of their adventures in many walks of life, of their families and their avocations. It was a group that had mellowed and eased and learned to take life in its stride. The separation of many years melted away promptly.

Some hearty souls sallied forth to splash up and down the golf links, and on Saturday morning representatives of the class played a team from the class of 1907, which was reuniting nearby, with the understanding that at the cocktail hour the losing class would keep the trophy cup filled for one hour with a suitable beverage. Unhappily the scoring system was so elaborate, and the scores were so large that the staff of operators employed for the purpose has not yet been able to determine which class was the winner.

The class reunion golf cup, which Dick Andrews and Karl Humphrey had donated for the best net score for thirty-six holes of golf at five year reunions, and which had been won in 1927 by Earl Perkins and in 1932 by Randy Burgess, was up for competition, but the weather conditions were so adverse that no one completed thirty-six holes with a score that he was willing to turn in. It was therefore decided by common consent that the competition for the cup would be postponed until the first year when a suitable tournament could be arranged.

A soft ball baseball match had been arranged for Saturday to be followed by an inter-class contest with 1907 for the Championship of the World on Sunday morning, but again the weather made this activity impossible for the mature old gentlemen who assembled for the reunion. It seemed much more fun to sit around the fire and talk or play bridge.

The highest point of attendance and enthusiasm was touched on Saturday night at the class dinner, which was a worthy successor of the convivial assemblies of the class since the time of its Freshman banquet at Bristol. The affairs of the class were discussed weightedly, enthusiastically, and amusingly by the major solons, and in particular, the preparation of the reunion book was finally and definitely endorsed and underwritten.

Thereupon, Earl Perkins, the president of the class, called upon John H. Williams, now Nathaniel Ropes Professor of Political Economy at Harvard, and Dean of the Harvard Graduate School of Public Administration, and withal Vice President of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, who spoke on the economic situation in his mellow and masterful fashion. It seemed clear that all would eventually turn out for the best, and that the first twenty-five years would prove to have been the hardest. As an epilogue an interesting set of motion pictures of the Brown Campus football games, etc., were shown to the classes of 1912 and 1917 sitting jointly.

Sunday morning was short and served as a time to button up and store away for a few more years the choicest conclusions from the assembly. But before the hegira for Providence and the 169th annual commencement of Brown University new class officers were elected as follows:

WARREN RANDOLPH BURGESS, President
EARL PHILO PERKINS, Secretary
HENRY GILDERSLEEVE MARSH, Treasurer

BROWN — TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Excerpts from The Providence Journal

BROWN GETS A NEW DEAN

Announcement was made of the choice of Prof. Otis E. Randall as dean of Brown University. He had been professor of Mechanics and Mechanical Engineering.

President W. H. P. Faunce of Brown, taking his seat in the bleachers at the Brown-Notre Dame baseball game, was so roundly cheered by the students that a correspondent signing himself "G. W. P." wrote a letter to the Editor of the Sunday Journal commending the practice.

Seven thousand baseball enthusiasts saw the Brown University baseball team trounce the Providence Grays of the Eastern League at a well-played game at Melrose Park. The Grays were led by Manager Fred Lake, while the college boys were coached by Pattee and captained by Ken Nash.

BROWN TEAM'S DIAMOND DEFEAT OF ELI NINE PROCLAIMED BY NIGHTSHIRT PROCESSION AND BONFIRE ON LINCOLN FIELD.

By Wilfred E. Stone

It's been many a day—and night—since Providence saw such a "nightshirt parade" as that put on by the Brown boys 25 years ago this week in celebration of the victory of the college baseball team over Yale. The Brown team won from the sons of old Eli on the New Haven field, to the tune of 13 to three.

When the news was received on College Hill, preparations were speedily made for a fitting celebration. With tumult and shouting, members of the winning team paraded downtown between cheering lines of students, clad in their robes de nuit and exhibiting wild enthusiasm. Arriving in the business section, the elders ordered the Freshman to "get wood." Wagon loads of fuel impressed, shanghied or hi-jacked from various places were carted in triumph up the hill, where a bonfire was quickly lighted on Lincoln field. There was much noise and enthusiasm, but little real disorder and only a few broken windows, which of course, were laid to Freshmen.

Brown students also won second place in the annual intercollegiate meet at Springfield, first honors going to Dartmouth. Point winners who "got their pictures in the paper" were A. E. Bartlett, Fred Burns, W. H. Marble, W. R. Waterman and Norman Taber.

Brown University conferred degrees upon 220 students, at its annual Commencement. Honorary degrees were as follows: LL.D., Lewis Ezra Stiles, president of Rangoon College, India; Ezra Ripley Thayer, dean of Harvard Law School; Inazo Nitobi, faculty member of the Imperial College at Koyoto, Japan; doctor of science, William Joseph Hussey; doctor of literature, Dana Carleton Munro; doctor of divinity, James DeWolf Perry, Jr., William Sheafe Chase, Robert Archibald Ashworth; master of arts, Stanley Richmond Burley, William Colver Hall.

Special interest was attached to the case of Leon Elwood Smith, Block Island student, who received the degree of Bachelor of Arts. Young Smith received his education through a fund awarded to his father, George Elwood Smith, by the Carnegie hero fund, for rescuing victims of the Larchmont disaster in 1907.

BROWN UNIVERSITY

BY DEAN SAMUEL TOMLINSON ARNOLD

TWO hundred and forty-three men entered Brown University in September, 1908, with the Class of 1912. The Providence Journal of September 23, 1908, carried a statement that the members of the freshman class "were already bringing extra strong locks to put upon their doors to prevent their being yanked out of bed at an unseemly hour and made to parade to the college pump." The Journal continues to explain upon authority of an undesignated but prominent sophomore that "the compulsory ablutions are to be administered not as a measure of humiliation and disgrace but as medical attention calculated to relieve the disease of enlarged cranium so prevalent among members of the class." It is undoubtedly true that the gentlemen of the press were indulging in rhetorical phrases as a means of attracting public interest and that the freshmen of 1908 were no more convinced of their own importance than is ordinarily the case with first year students.

We do not feel that the four hundred undergraduates in the Class of 1940 which entered Brown University in September, 1937, constitute a better class than that of 1912. We do not feel that they are more desirable as a group or that they should have greater expectations for their later years than did the men of the Class of 1912. But it is certainly true that the Class of 1940 came to a different campus with different conditions and with different problems than did the Class of 1912. There are many reasons for the changes but the automobile, the aeroplane, and the radio are three of the most important factors.

One of the most important changes which would face a member of the Class of 1912 today if he registered as an undergraduate would be in the faculty. There are one hundred and seventy-five men in the present faculty as contrasted with the one hundred and one who were on the list in 1908-1909. Fourteen of the one hundred and one are listed today with the professors emeriti, while eleven others are still active. Our present faculty undoubtedly includes as high a ratio of outstanding teachers as was the case in 1908-1909 when the list included the names of such men as Appleton, Bronson, Crowell, Davis, Dealy, Gorham, Green, Harkness, Langdon, Munro and Poland. It would be interesting to predict the members of the present faculty who will be regarded as outstanding teachers by members of the Class of 1940 in the year 1965 when their 25th anniversary rolls around.

Another important change that would face the member of the Class of 1912 if he registered today would be in the campus itself. The corner stone of the John Hay Library was laid on April 30, 1909, and the "old" library is now used as the headquarters of the Department of Economics. The Arnold Biological Library has replaced the old refectory, while the Metcalf Chemical Laboratory has definitely spoiled the possibilities of Lincoln Field as a baseball diamond. The Engineering Department has a new annex on Thayer Street which is in constant use. Marston Hall serves as headquarters of the Modern Language Departments, and the departments of Art, Education, Music, and Psychology all have individual buildings as headquarters.

Two new dormitories, Littlefield Hall and Hegeman Hall, have changed the housing situation tremendously. In this connection we are reminded of the statement in the Brown Daily Herald of 1908 regarding University Hall and Hope College.

"A man who has roomed in one of these buildings a year or more will tell you very probably, however, that they are at present far more satisfactory as historical monuments than as college dormitories. . . . The chief annoyance to dwellers in Hope and University is the location of all bath and toilet rooms in the basement, an annoyance that is really serious to those living on the upper floor. The bathing facilities themselves are by no means ideal, especially in University Hall, nor are conditions wholly sanitary. In neither dormitory is there adequate provision for hot water. A convenience which many students would appreciate would be to have them wired for electricity." Nothing was said concerning the excellent accommodations in Maxcy Hall or about the folding beds which were often used in the hall ways as laboratory equipment to demonstrate what happened if an irresistible force struck an immovable object.

There have been two other very important changes on the campus which should be mentioned. The first is the enlargement of the Brown Union to form Faunce House. The new dining rooms have permitted us to improve the catering facilities on the campus, while the new theatre is in constant use not only by Sock and Buskin but also by many other campus groups.

The second change is that of the athletic plant. Andrews Field has been replaced by a new stadium and by the playing fields including the new baseball diamond with the stands. The new gymnasium is used for intercollegiate athletics and as the headquarters for the physical education program. There are also playing fields and tennis courts on Thayer Street which are used to a large extent. The increased facilities have been responsible for a much larger number of students participating.

The years since 1908 have brought changes in the curriculum and in the degrees offered. The Bachelor of Philosophy degree has been given up and only one Bachelor of Science degree is offered in Engineering. Present day students may, however, register for the degree of Bachelor of Science in Chemistry. In this connection it is of interest to note that fifty percent of the Class of 1912 registered in September, 1908, as candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Science. At the present time approximately ten percent of the freshmen register as engineering candidates.

Evidently there were many interesting curriculum matters being discussed in 1908-1909. Dean Meiklejohn made a report suggesting the desirability of giving up second examinations in cases where students had failed the regular examination. He stated that "the state of mind of a student preparing for an examination which is a last chance is different from that in which he surveys the possibilities of another try four weeks later in case the first attempt is a failure."

The Brown Daily Herald in February, 1909, commented upon an article in the Brown Alumni Monthly on "Snap Courses." It stated that "some of the easier courses are well worthwhile on their own merits either through their subject matter or the personality of the instructors." It also stated that among the best of courses given at Brown were some which "have been known for years as little or no preparation before the night previous to the examination."

We realize how things have changed since 1908-1909 when we note some of the subjects for English themes.

Is the present entrance requirement in English satisfactory?

Should the number of courses required of freshmen in Brown University be reduced to four?

Should the subjects required for admission to college be considerably decreased?

Should gate money in Intercollegiate athletics be abolished?

Have eligibility rules now in force at Brown proved satisfactory in actual operation?

Should gymnasium work at Brown be made voluntary?

Does the failure of the Brook farm experiment show the cooperative principle upon which it was based was unsound?

Should engineering students be required to take English 1?

Is the monoplane superior to the biplane for military scouting?

Should Brown make the concession necessary to the re-instatement of athletic relations with Dartmouth?

Should the fund appropriated for University Scholarships at Brown be divided into scholarships fewer in number and larger in amount?

Freshman Week is now an integral part of the program of entering students, but no mention of it can be found in the catalog of 1908-1909. The orientation program for freshmen was developed at a much later date. Psychological tests, placement tests, proficiency tests, aptitude tests and the like were not in evidence under any such names. Students were admitted to college primarily on the basis of their secondary school records together with the endorsement of their school principal.

The catalog for 1936-1937 carries the following statement — “Selection of the Freshman Class.” “Selections will be based upon positive evidence of good character, acceptable personality, intelligent ambition and genuine proficiency. Preferential consideration is given to applicants who possess the basic personal qualifications and have maintained high scholastic standing in secondary school.” This type of statement was not printed in 1908-1909. Nevertheless, I dare say that the people who were responsible for admission in those days were as careful in selecting the class as any of us might desire. I need only point to the Class of 1912 as conclusive proof of my point.

Members of the Class of 1912 attended Chapel each week day morning at nine o'clock. The present undergraduate attends Chapel once each week at twelve o'clock. The Chapel talks of President Faunce which constituted an important part of the educational experience of members of the Class of 1912, at times included a discussion of college life and its problems but often included the discussion of problems which were facing the nation and the world at large. A perusal of Dr. Faunce's book, “Facing Life” will bring back memories of the Chapel exercises and will be a source of enjoyment to all.

Approximately the same ratio of students were members of fraternities in 1908-1909 as at the present time. Seventeen national fraternities had chapters on the hill and there were two local fraternities. Five of the chapters had chapter houses.

One fraternity problem is that of rushing and pledging freshmen. At the present time a system of deferred rushing is used at Brown. There are arguments in favor of this system and there are arguments against the system. It is of interest to note that in the year 1909-1910, for the first time, five fraternities instituted a deferred rushing plan. In 1908 the Brown Daily Herald announced on October 15th the names of the men who were already pledged to fraternities and the list was practically complete. For the year 1936-37 the pledging date was December 1.

Not all fraternities were regarded as wholly desirable in 1908-1909 for the Brown Daily Herald comments editorially on February 15, 1909, regarding the “more or less open secret of the recent establishment of Theta Nu Epsilon upon the Hill.” The editorial went on to say that T. N. E. was neither new or a fraternity and that it had “terminated a previous existence four years ago by request.” It also deplored the fact that the chapter had been re-established and stated that T. N. E. stood preeminently for “conviviality and politics of a most practical sort.”

Undergraduates of the present would not know anything about certain functions which were of the utmost importance in 1908-1909. Gymnasium Bill, Sub-Freshman Banquet, Freshman Banquet, six o'clock baseball league, Junior Circus,—baseball game following Class Day and the Senior supper. The places of many of these have been taken by still other functions which seem as important to the present day undergraduate as those listed above seemed to the men in the Class of 1912.

The college of 1908-1909 was smaller and more homogeneous than the present college. Students knew each other better than is the case today. College spirit was no richer or greater although its manifestations were different. Youth is ever changing in the superficialities of life, but fundamentally it seems that youth does not change. The eternal verities of life still endure.

1912 JUNIOR CRUISE SONG

(WORDS AND MUSIC BY EARL P. PERKINS)

Oh, we are regular cruisers
And real old boozers, too.
We go sailing down the bay
Where some baseball we will play.
But when we get back to College
We know the Dean will say,
How much booze was on that cruise?
Well, Twelve's on a Holiday.

EDWARD AUGUST ADAMS

AFTER graduation I returned to the Middle West entering a law school at the University of Iowa, receiving my LL.B. degree in 1916, and serving as assistant football and basketball coach of the University's teams during that period. Most of my time, while in this State, I spent in the banking, real estate and loan business and served several months in the Field Artillery Officers' Training School at Camp Taylor. In 1916 I moved to Los Angeles and was admitted to the practice of law in the State of California. I kept up my interest in athletics and devoted much time to fraternity chapters in the Middle West and on the West Coast. Have kept in touch with Brown Club activities on the Coast and am now serving as President of the local Brown Club and Vice President of the Western Region of the Associated Alumni. Also travelled extensively in the United States and Canada and in December, 1915, while a senior in Law School, was selected as a representative of the University and the State to be a member of the Henry Ford Peace Expedition, which offered an unusual experience in a trip through Ireland, Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany and Holland. Have not often confessed to this participation, but feel that its mission was not fully understood and that its fundamental purpose was sound. While I have not held any political office I have been interested in public affairs and am active in Republican organizations.

WALTER LEWIS ALLEN

AFTER becoming assistant Business Manager of The Brown Daily Herald, I thought I was ready for the business world and squared off with it in 1910. I got the job I wanted at once because I asked no salary. "Al" Poland of the class of 1909 was stepping ahead and his path looked attractive. He made and sold loose-leaf office systems. I still sell the same customers in Rhode Island that I dug up over 25 years ago. At present I own the Paul Stierle Company at 56 Pine Street, Providence. Am President and Treasurer. We make window and counter displays which involve wood, paper, cardboard, velvet, satin, silk, leather, color printing, etc., etc.

Was with Battery A of Rhode Island from 1910 to 1917, including service on the Mexican Border in 1916. Wrote most of book covering this experience.

First Lieutenant and Acting Captain, 77th Division, of New York City. In France just one year and at the front from July to November 11th, 1918.

Member for many years of Metacomet Golf Club. At present Wannamoisett and Annaquatucket. Runner-up for club championship of latter, recently.

Play bridge to offset the depression, when Humphrey and Chace are not around. Won state pair championship in 1935. Member Bridge Club of Rhode Island.

Get ample fraternal life from own family.

Am decidedly fond of Beethoven on the piano. Hope to play it well within the next 25 years.

ADDRESSES: (home) 42 Dana Street, Providence, R. I.; (business) 160 Broad Street, (Y. M. C. A.), Providence, R. I.

PRESENT at 25th Reunion.

AFTER two years as a Civil at Brown, I left and in the Fall of 1911 entered Worcester Polytechnic Institute on the Mechanical Engineering course. While there, I became actively identified with many extra-curricular activities—principally the Tech News Association, the Cosmopolitan Club (of which I was President two years), the Rifle Club (which I was instrumental in organizing and of which I was President), and the Student Y. M. C. A. (of which I was Vice President in my Senior year).

In the Fall of 1915, I entered the Y. M. C. A. work in what was then the newest and largest Y. M. C. A. building in the world—the Central Branch at Brooklyn, New York—where I served in the Membership, Publicity, Employment, and House Departments.

Two years later, I was transferred to the War Work—serving at Camp Upton, Long Island, N. Y., from the arrival of the first draft contingent until five months after the Armistice in the capacities of Business and Building Secretary, and later as Camp Business Manager for all the Y. M. C. A. work there.

The following month—May, 1919—I went back to Worcester Tech as Student Y. M. C. A. Secretary, also serving two years as Secretary-Treasurer of the Alumni Association. After four years there, I resigned and went into the Life Insurance Business with the Northwestern Mutual. Except for a brief and financially disastrous five months period in 1927, when circumstances put me in as Vice President and Plant Manager of a struggling concrete block and brick making plant, I was a Life Underwriter until 1933—having transferred to Providence, R. I., in 1928. I served for one year as a Director of the Rhode Island Life Underwriters Association.

The following Spring, I returned to the Y. M. C. A. work, joining the staff of my old home Association here in Providence, where for so many years as a boy I was active in the work. My official title is Office Secretary—which means that I am in charge of the Front Office or Reception Desk where all members, guests, residence men, seekers of information, and others come for assistance, advice, the payment of bills, and occasionally to complain.

I have also been active in many Masonic, Church and Civic organizations—having served as Chaplain of my Lodge, President of the Civitan Club of Worcester, Mass., and of several Church clubs and I am a member of the Rhode Island Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution.

CHARLES FULDA ARCHAMBAULT

BORN : West Warwick, R. I., August 6, 1889. PARENTS : Joseph Archambault, Virginia (Choquette) Archambault.

PREPARED AT : Warwick High.

IN COLLEGE : 1909-1912 ; Harvard Law School. DEGREE : LL.B., 1915.

MARRIED : Mlle. Eugenie Flossie Marie Ghislain, New York City, October 23, 1932. CHILD : Paul.

DIED : New Bedford, Mass., November 2, 1937.

FAMILY MEMBER OF BROWN : Paul G., Class of 1915, brother.

CHARLES FULDA ARCHAMBAULT, City Solicitor and Special Justice of the Third District Court, New Bedford, Mass., died at St. Luke's Hospital, New Bedford, November 2, 1937, after failing to rally from an appendix operation.

For many years he gave his time and energy outside his law practice to public affairs. He served four years on the New Bedford school committee. He ran unsuccessfully four times for mayor against Charles S. Ashley, dean of Massachusetts mayors, who completed 32 years in office. He had helpful part in the work of the Brown Club of New Bedford and was on several occasions an officer of the Club.

He prepared at Warwick High School and at Brown found most interest in courses in public speaking and political science. He went on to Harvard Law School, was a leader in his class, and won his LL.B. degree in 1915. He commenced practice in New Bedford, and continued there for the rest of his life.

In 1922, on a visit abroad, he met Mlle. Eugenie Flossie Marie Ghislain, daughter of a Colonel in the Belgian Army. The meeting, on the French shore of Lake Geneva at Evian-les-Bains, blossomed into romance. On October 23rd, 1922, Mlle. Ghislain came to his country and married Judge Archambault, at the pier to meet her, at Holy Trinity Church, New York City.

Mrs. Archambault survives, with a son, Paul. Also surviving are his mother, a brother, Paul G. Archambault, former member of the Class of 1915, and several cousins, one of whom is Judge Alberic A. Archambault of the Rhode Island Superior Court. In the effort to save our classmate's life, four blood transfusions were given, the last one by Mayor Leo E. J. Carney, who defeated him and Mayor Ashley in the 1936 election. (From Brown Alumni Monthly, December, 1937.)

HAIL, 1912! If anybody has any curiosity about me, I think I can ease it without great cost to either of us. So far as I can judge I haven't changed a bit. Not in any essential way. I am forty pounds heavier than I was twenty-five years ago, definitely middle-aged. But my corporation is a holding company. My hair is only slightly grey below the temples and just as wind-blown as ever. I have never raised whiskers of any kind, and though I am no longer mistaken for a freshman as I used to be at Amherst. My wife's latest portrait (like Rembrandt and Cezanne she presses the family into service whenever more interesting models fail) looks astonishingly like "Jocko, '12." My hunch is that any who remember me at all would pick me out at a hundred yards.

Is this a dreadful admission? Well, at least mine isn't the only case. Judging by his picture in the last Phi Beta Kappa Key, our most distinguished classmate is another. He seems to be the same old Randie, still nobly determined to be equal to life's great responsibilities and still faintly troubled as to what is going to come of it all. Does this mean that Brown failed to alter us? I don't know. Maybe Brown did the trick with epochal finality. If any remember me as Dean Meiklejohn's philosophic protege, they will not be surprised to learn that his is the closest friendship I retain from college days.

As you see, I am now ranked as an economist. But don't let that fool you. Maurice Clark once told me of lunching downtown with a friend and a group of his business associates who were invited after some little conversation to guess what his department is. Their guesses were all different, agreeing only in this, that he couldn't be an economist since he professed to know so little about such things. On a smaller scale I am that kind of economist. Still spinning theories and no nearer to making a fortune (or losing my shirt) on the market than twenty-five years ago.

I have never had a brokerage account and probably never shall; own no property, "have" nothing, and probably never shall. Nevertheless while millions starve not quite unresistingly I live in virtually perfect security and ease, have everything I want.

Perhaps I should say by way of "Hail and Farewell" that I have been and am quite ridiculously happy. In spite of certain crises such as we have all been through, I have had a really glorious time. I am doing just what I want to do, and I still cherish the illusion that what I am doing amounts to something. "What about Communism?" Well, I don't see barricades ahead for us. John Lewis? Ho, hum. But if they do come, I am as good a candidate for garroting by communists as a reactionary as by fascists for a red. But in either case I shall have got it in the neck after a swell time.

AFTER graduation I sailed back with my family by Pacific to China. Spending about two months in the homeland, I went to Peking and received an appointment by Ministry of Finance on the commission for organizing Bank of China. When Mr. T. S. Sun, the first Governor of the Bank, took office, I was appointed to the Secretarial Department. Serving there for three months, I was transferred to the post of Assistant Manager of the Issue Department. In the following year and under a new Governor, I was appointed Deputy Superintendent of the Superintending Department. In 1914 I was promoted to the post of Chief Superintendent and held the post until 1916 when I resigned and left the Bank on account of disagreement of the banking policy with the new boss at that time. In the early history of Bank of China, it almost had a new head each year.

Then I went to Tientsin where my old boss Mr. Sun was planning to organize the Chun Foo Union Bank and asked me to assist him in the work. After the establishment of the said Bank, I was in charge of several important posts in its Head Office and Tientsin Branch. Since 1920 up to the present, I have been one of the members of its Board of Directors.

In 1918 I was urged to return to Bank of China again. This time I joined its Tientsin office. In 1919 I was appointed the Manager, which post I am now still holding. The office has under its supervision forty-five Sub-offices extending to almost two-thirds of the area of North China. During the period of about two decades in the office, I have had several trying times in coping with various grave problems. At present moment, the circumstances are extremely difficult and my responsibility is great. My future depends entirely upon the fate of my country.

In 1935 when China adopted the system of managed currency, I was able in my position to contribute a considerable part in assisting the Central Government to realize the scheme in North China, notwithstanding the objection of local authorities.

I was elected in 1929 and re-elected this year to the Directorship of Bank of China. I am also serving in the capacity of Directors in several concerns and Chairman of two of them. Most of the concerns have close connections with the Bank. In China, these positions do not bring to a person any pecuniary advantage but only give him additional responsibilities and require from him more service to the Society. Of course, it does signify some recognition of one's service, satisfactory to the community.

Besides various positions held in different business concerns, I also have had the following honours: Chairman of Tientsin Bankers' Association; Member of the Standing Committee of Tientsin Chamber of Commerce; President of Rotary Club; Member of the Standing Committee of various Commissions, social or governmental; Trustee of trust funds, charitable, educational or governmental; Chairman of Board of Directors of two middle schools; and Director of Nankai University.

Upon arrival at home after landing in China, I and my wife discovered that our five boys who were left to the care of my parents during our stay in the United States had grown to the school age and that the youngest one brought back from America will also approach it very soon. It was certainly a great problem to me while I was a new college graduate just looking for a position and with the responsibility of supporting the parental family after my father's death. Fortunately, during these twenty-five years I have managed to give them all good education. Among my six sons, three received Ph.D. from American Universities, one is a medical doctor and two are university graduates. The youngest one, a daughter, is a senior at Pembroke College.

Although I am still not an old man, I have already four grandchildren—three grandsons and one granddaughter. The first grandchild, a boy, was born to my youngest son five years ago. The boy has entered kindergarten this fall.

My hobbies contain the following items: book collection, both Chinese and English, not rare prints, but clear type readable books; gardening; occasionally composing Chinese verses and practicing Chinese calligraphy. Above all I began to learn at the age of forty from my sons how to crawl (hardly called swimming) in the sea water. Every summer I enjoyed that little exercise at a sea beach known as Pai-tai-ho.

Dr. Faunce wrote to me many years ago saying "The way to the highest success is not by directly seeking it, but simply discharging faithfully the duties of the place where we are. As the New Testament puts it 'Thou hast been faithful over a few things; I will make thee ruler over many things.' That is law of life." I am always keeping his words in mind as my philosophy of life.

IN COLLEGE : 1911-1912. DEGREE : PH.B. Cornell, 2 years.

OCCUPATION : Investment Management, Studley, Shupert & Co., Boston, Mass.

MARRIED : Frances E. Warrender, Newark, N. J., January, 1914. CHILDREN : Julia, February, 1915 ; Frances, September, 1917 ; Barbara, October, 1916.

SOON after our Revered Prexy Faunce handed me the parchment which proclaimed to anyone interested that I was now a Bachelor of Philosophy, I went to New York where I secured a position with one of the Union Carbide and Carbon Company's subsidiaries as a sales representative in which capacity I traveled over the greater part of the country calling upon the leading units in practically every type of industry.

After some three years of so hopping over the map, I accepted the position of sales and advertising manager with a Boston manufacturer of welding equipment and certain engine parts, with the belief and hope that I should then have more time to devote to my new home and young family, but fate and a rapidly growing business soon had me numbered with those executive slaves who rarely know in the morning where they will lay their weary heads at night. That was during the great "Convention Era" when you had to engage your room several days ahead or probably sleep on a pool table or on a cot in the ballroom.

I went into the field of investments in 1925 and shall probably be there as long as I can totter to the office. John Public certainly needs plenty of help to dodge the old adage of "a fool and his money."

In my spare time, which is not yet too plentiful, I play bridge and some golf and spend every possible minute in the summer either in or on the water, as swimming and sailing are my two pet sports.

My serious interests outside of my family and business lie with local organizations and clubs, but I have avoided politics which is a major error that most of the class have made.

I well realize that this sketch of my activities during the past twenty-five years does not sound like a page from the life of Julius Caesar, Charles Schwab or Jacques Casanovo so just think of me as an ordinary conservative trying to live peacefully with his neighbors.

Home Towns—First Worcester, then Bridgeport, but with plenty of traveling.

The first year I worked in architectural stone detail—something I already knew, which gave me a chance to size up the "life-work" problem. Then, "Pressed Metal" tools, dies, jigs, etc., etc., but Cutting Tools—Machine Tools presented a broader field, and introduction through advertising has brought me in the last 18 years to my present job.

DIED : North Scituate, January 27, 1938.

EASTWOOD HOWARD BOARDMAN, former manufacturer and for the past five years farmer in North Scituate, R. I., died in North Scituate, January 27, 1938. His failure to return home the night of his death started a search, resulting in the discovery of his body next morning about half a mile from his house.

Born October 5, 1889, the son of William H. and Maud (Eastwood) Boardman of Central Falls, he came to Brown from Moses Brown School. He withdrew in Senior year without taking his degree. From 1912 to 1932, except for the period of the World War, he worked for the R. Plews Manufacturing Company, Central Falls, makers of tin spindles and other articles for thread mills, and became president in 1922. Resigning in 1932, he removed to his North Scituate farm, where his chief recreation was hunting.

In May, 1917, shortly after this country entered the World War, he enlisted and in January, 1918, became First Lieutenant, Construction Division, Q. M. C. After the war he was active in the American Legion, serving in 1919 as commander of James Stanton Post, No. 5. While at Brown he belonged to Chi Phi, now Sigma Chi.

He was married April 30, 1912, to Miss Cora May Lees, who survives, with a daughter, Mrs. Edward M. Fish, Jr., '35, Pembroke College, and a son, Eastwood H. Boardman, Jr.

GEORGE WILLIAM BREWSTER

THE summer of 1912 found a Boston hotel chain in need of a man so I went to work for the E. R. Grabow Company as auditor. After two years of trying to find out why hotel guests were willing to furnish their homes with all needed equipment except towels and flat silverware, a transfer to an associated company took me to Long Island, New York. From the sublime to the ridiculous, or rather from a string of fine hotels to the cultivation and marketing of the succulent bivalve, namely the oyster. Again I lasted a little over two years, acting as treasurer of the company but with the title and salary of assistant treasurer.

It was along about this time that Uncle Sam felt the urge to enter the late unpleasantness with Germany so I agreed to help him run the naval end of the affair. One sunny day in the summer of 1917 I was sent to a sub chaser base at Port Jefferson, Long Island, along with about thirty other little helpers. We spent the fall and winter having a swell time eating and sleeping and wondering what the idea was of having us out there anyway. Maybe it was just to toughen us for there was nearly a month that chilly winter when the only undressing we did each night was to remove our shoes and our neckties before hopping into the bunk. Finally some one had the bright idea of fixing the boiler in the old canning factory that we were using as a winter resort. It was really a bright idea for the balance of the winter we operated as a small edition of the Lake Placid Club with skating as our chief occupation.

All good things come to an end and in the spring of 1918 I was foolish enough to pass an examination for a commission and suddenly blossomed forth as an ensign (one gold stripe and all) in the pay corp. Since I knew nothing of "pay corping" I was given a six weeks training in Washington and then sent to the Navy Yard at New York to help the boys supply our fleet with everything they wanted from a bucket of paint to a complete battleship. This proved to be a very fortunate assignment for from then until June 1919 was a decidedly happy period in my life. I had some six hundred clerks under me and it was our job to see that the ships got what they wanted when they wanted it and to help us in our work Uncle Sam had on hand some seventy thousand items in stock. The second week I was at the Navy Yard I was given seven days leave and made excellent use of this time off by going to Boston and marrying Alma Suren of Needham. That fall the powers at Washington sent me another half stripe so I emerged from my naval career in June 1919 as a Lieutenant (JG).

Like many of the boys the end of the war left me with no job, little money, one wife and one and a half stripes of gold braid (not negotiable). I spent the last half of 1919 with the Gillette Razor Company at Boston rather unhappily and then came to Providence and built a warehouse as an adjunct to the distribution of raw cotton. For the past seventeen years I have been following that game and if you get around these parts you will find me either at my office at 49 Valley Street, East Providence, or at my home at 358 Rochambeau Avenue in the city proper.

PHILIP ELLIOT BRONSON

BORN : Philadelphia, Pa., March 25, 1889. PARENTS : Edwin H. Bronson, Virginia (Bilderback) Bronson.

PREPARED AT : Peddie School, Hightstown, N. J.

IN COLLEGE : 1908-1909.

OCCUPATION : Investment Counsel, Brundage, Story & Rose, New York.

MARRIED : Marion Richards, Bridgeport, Conn., 1918. CHILDREN : Sally Franklin, June 2, 1919 ; Marion Richards, April 24, 1924.

ADDRESSES : (home) 550 Lincoln Avenue, Orange, N. J. ; (business) Brundage, Story & Rose, 90 Broad Street, New York, N. Y.

FROM Providence I went to Bridgeport and was with the Locomobile Company of America until we went into the war. I entered the service as a Lieutenant in the Coast Artillery and served at Fort H. G. Wright off New London harbor and the Artillery School at Fort Monroe, Virginia.

When ordered overseas, I made a hurried trip to Bridgeport, broke the news to Marion Richards, who became Mrs. Bronson on the spot.

Shortly thereafter I embarked for France and served there as adjutant of the 45th Artillery, C. A. C.

After the war, bewildered, I returned to the Locomobile Company for a short time. Early in 1921 the investment banking business attracted me and I joined the firm of Scholle Brothers in New York and remained with them during the exhilarating and painful years that followed. Since 1932, I have been associated with Brundage, Story and Rose, Investment Counsel, striving to relieve some of our clients of a portion of their financial worries.

Of our two children, Sally is a freshman at Smith College, and Marion, not yet fourteen, we hope will in time also decide in favor of a New England college.

Filling my leisure hours has not as yet become a serious problem. As a matter of fact, my problem has been to find enough time for tennis and swimming in season, an occasional course of study in New York, local politics, and the demands of the neighborhood church of which I am an officer.

DANIEL LUCIUS BROWN

AFTER graduation I attended the Harvard Business School for a year. Then I worked in department stores in Cleveland and Minneapolis for two years. As it became increasingly evident that I had not the makings of a merchant prince, I decided, very fortunately when viewed in a twenty-year perspective, to try the law. I went to Harvard Law School in 1915 and after a wartime interruption got my degree in 1919. During the War I made some trips to Europe as navigating officer of an Army transport and spent some time on this side training officers for that service. In 1919 I took a job with Hale and Dorr, one of the larger law firms in Boston. A few years later I became a partner and remain one today. Of late years I have been specializing in the management of estates and trusts and financial work.

Over the last ten years new faces have been appearing in the family perambulator fairly regularly and I find that four of them cramp one's style somewhat as to hobbies. I have, however, been able to do a good deal of traveling and have kept up my interest in sports and kept down my waistline so I could indulge it. I have made many trips to Europe and have visited all the other continents at some time or other. I still play tennis two or three times a week the year round and pray that my come-down to golf is still some years ahead. I was one of the first hereabouts to be bitten by the skiing bug and for the past five or six years my yearly holidays have all been spent skiing in the Alps. If there is any finer sport I have never heard of it.

For a pastoral note I have had a small place in the country where for years I have gained great enjoyment from fruit growing and experiments in raising every kind of nut tree that will grow hereabouts. Passing from outdoors to indoors, like many of us, I fancy, I must confess to no great achievements, but I have done something in continuing the subjects begun in college, especially foreign languages, and I hereby resolve to offer a report of real achievement in this respect on our Fiftieth.

HERMON CAREY BUMPUS, JR.

I LEFT Brown at the end of my Junior year, and although I was registered at the University and graduated with the class of 1912 my Senior year I was in attendance at the University of Wisconsin. Here I took my first year of medicine, transferring to Harvard the following year and graduating with the class of 1915.

Immediately upon graduation I went to Minnesota on a Fellowship in the Mayo Foundation. Shortly after this I married Helen McBurnie, a Minnesota girl and graduate of Smith in the class of 1913. The Fellowship at the Mayo Clinic was interrupted by the World War during which I served as lieutenant in the Medical Corps. At the end of hostilities I returned to the Mayo Clinic as a member of the permanent staff where I remained for eighteen years in the department of urology, becoming an Associate Professor of the Mayo Foundation and receiving degrees from the University of Minnesota and American College of Surgeons. During this time I wrote numerous articles on urological subjects and in 1932 published a book entitled, Minor Surgery of the Urinary Tract. I was for three years secretary of the Urological Section of the American Medical Association following which I served as Chairman. I am now a member of the House of Delegates of the American Medical Association.

My three children having grown to high school age, and feeling a responsibility for assuring them a wider outlook than a small Minnesota town affords composed of several hundred doctors I resigned from the Mayo Clinic in 1933 and entered private practice in Pasadena, California. Since coming to California I have been made Professor of Urology, in the College of Medical Evangelists, Chief of Staff at St. Luke Hospital in Pasadena and head of one of the Urological Services at the Los Angeles County General Hospital, which hospital by the way has the largest bed capacity in the world. They do things on a grand scale in California!

My daughter is now a Junior at Smith and my boys are in California boarding schools. As they intend to go east to college, and I trust to Brown, we have been spending our summer vacation in Duxbury, Massachusetts, where I have met many Brown men and have had the pleasure of frequently renewing old friendships.

FREDERICK BURGESS, JR.

AFTER leaving college I attended the General Theological Seminary, New York City, and after three years of study entered the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal Church. In 1918 I was called to be Rector of the Church of Zion and St. Timothy, 334 West 57th Street, New York City. The church building was totally destroyed by fire on the last day of the year, 1921; and in May, 1922, we consolidated with St. Matthew's under the new corporate title of the Church of St. Matthew and St. Timothy. Since then I have been Rector of the combined Parish.

My summer vacations have been spent mostly in Europe, and the past summer completed my fifteenth crossing.

I am bitterly opposed to scrapping the Constitution or to anything that will compromise the rich heritage of America. Communism and Fascism have my bitter opposition. One of the world's greatest problems is how to maintain peace as wars have only brought futile and unnecessary suffering. Love of country has suffered and so has religion in the last generation, but more are believing that the indestructible values must be treasured by all.

I wanted to attend the Reunion and see the old crowd, but was prevented by my Sunday work. It is a great regret that I have not seen more of my college friends.

GETTING by with less than the minimum of college mathematics, and later earning my living as a statistician; majoring in philosophy, and becoming a banker; pursuing social welfare, and landing in Wall Street, may sound a bit inconsistent to others but was in reality a perfectly logical development.

From college I went to Montreal for three years and worked at religious education and social service. An increasing interest in education led me to two years of graduate study at Columbia University, which included the study of statistics. An interest in statistics in turn, and in a lady named May Ayres, resulted in my following her and her brother Leonard Ayres to Washington where he established a central statistical service for the War Department. I married her and learned statistics from him.

After the war, back in New York, still majoring in education, my wife and I took the final examinations for our doctors' degrees while the first baby was parked outside. The subject of my thesis, "Trends of School Costs," entered the realms of finance, and that proved a point of departure, for in 1920 I went with the Federal Reserve Bank as a statistician and editor of the Monthly Review of Business and Credit Conditions, and there I have been ever since in one job or another—most recently as vice president having charge of open market operations and relations with the Treasury.

This job seems a far cry from earlier interests; but the task is one of public service and requires philosophical analysis and understanding. The old mainsprings of action also get a chance to operate in some of the side lines, which include the Brown Corporation (fellow) and trusteeships of Teachers College (Columbia), Robert College, and the Academy of Political Science, and, this past year, the presidency of the American Statistical Association.

Two sons, nearly ready for college, can almost beat me at tennis. I play a gentleman's game of golf, between ninety and one hundred, just good enough to win the Class Reunion cup in 1932, but not good enough to keep it. I have written a book about my job, "The Reserve Banks and the Money Market," which at least one other member of the class has read.

EDGAR GIBSON BUZZELL

AFTER graduation went into a real estate office in Chicago and did all of the dirty work such as posting five-day notices and the like. Meanwhile went to the Downtown School of Commerce of Northwestern University for one year, taking accounting and making myself an alumnus of that institution entitling me to go to all football games (if I pay my way) and allowing me to contribute to its endowment fund, so I am told yearly. . . . After the year, thinking that I was an accountant, I forsook real estate for the accounting department of H. H. Donnelly & Son, printers and publishers. Here I counted type and kept time on the composition and makeup of every telephone directory in the country, I guess, until I was black in the face, meanwhile taking up some evening courses in agriculture offered in one of the high schools of the city.

Overnight almost I threw the printing business to the winds and was on my way to Purdue University to try out a ten-day short course in agriculture. Finding this to my liking I stayed on for the winter course 1914. Thus I acquired a third Alma Mater.

The following summer I spent on a farm in the wheat and cattle country of North Dakota learning real farm stuff. That fall was spent on an apple orchard in Michigan picking, grading and packing and then back to Purdue for a second winter course in dairying.

In the spring of 1915 I landed at Glen Eyrie Farm, Delavan, Wisconsin, the family plaything, a full-fledged farmer, or so

I thought. Anyhow that fall I got married to my old high school chum, another city farmer, and we started out in earnest. In taking her the family acquired two more alma maters, Chicago and Indiana. Later we both attended, more or less, sessions at the University of Wisconsin. All claim us. Won't it be fun to decide where the children are to go?

By the way, this wedding gave us our only national publicity—an enterprising reporter spreading our story from coast to coast in a two-page spread because we gave each other health certificates.

We specialized for many years in producing and marketing high grade eggs, building up one of the first extensive parcel post distributing systems. At the peak of our success in marketing we ran into production trouble and wisely have discontinued the business, at least for the present. Meanwhile Mrs. Buzzell was interesting herself in a farm camp idea which has grown until last summer we had an average of over twenty youngsters, 7 to 12 years old, boys and girls, for ten weeks. Undoubtedly this will be our main summer work from now on.

We have two boys of our own, 13 and 15, and have two little girls, 11 and 12, with us this year. We keep pretty busy in community affairs. At present I am secretary of the Delavan Lake Improvement Association, assistant chief of the Delavan Lake Fire Department, member of the Red Cross First Aid Unit, treasurer of the Town of Delavan, adult leader of the local 4-H group, member and past president of the Delavan Rotary Club, a trustee of the Congregational Church, on the board of the Walworth County Y. M. C. A., director of the Delavan Chamber of Commerce—whoa, Virginia had to do some of it, so she is clerk of the school board, is assistant superintendent and a teacher in the Congregational Sunday School, is a member of the executive committee of the Walworth County Branch of A. A. U. W. and on the Wisconsin State Board and chairman of the Sectional Committee on Education, we both belong to the Delavan Theatre Guild of which I am vice president, both are members of the local Grange, and Mrs. Buzzell is a charter member of the Joint Committee on Education in Wisconsin.

Past offices which might be of interest are president of the "Great Walworth County Fair," president of the Wisconsin Certified Poultry Breeders' Association, member of board of directors of the Wisconsin Poultry Improvement Association, supervisor of the Town of Delavan and active in the Wisconsin Hampshire Breeders Association.

I have done a little writing, mostly along trade lines, including a prize-winning article on marketing poultry and eggs by parcel post. I have no real hobbies but do do a little work in photography. Never see any of my classmates anymore, being stuck away up here in Wisconsin. "Come up and see me sometime."

BORN : Riverview, R. I., January 8, 1889. PARENTS : Thomas Edward Chace, Elizabeth (Kipp) Chace.

PREPARED AT : East Orange High School, East Orange, N. J.; Farmington School, Farmington, Maine.

IN COLLEGE : One and one-half years.

ADDRESSES : (home) Harmony, R. I.; (business) 29 Weybosset Street, Providence, R. I.

PRESENT at 25th Reunion.

LEFT college in the middle of my sophomore year to go to work because of family financial difficulties. Being still young and adventurous took a turn at sleuthing but finding myself too sentimental to betray my quarry turned in disgust to business in the form of timekeeper for C. B. Maguire Company, general contractors. Tried to add to my income by playing professional football with the result that I was laid up with a broken ankle and lost my job. Entered employ of Tilden-Thurber Company in their wholesale department, where I worked up to the position of manager. Accepted a proposition from Mason Young Co., Inc., of New York, insurance brokers, to be manager of their Providence office after serving apprenticeship.

In 1912 went into the insurance business for myself in Providence. In 1916 enlisted as a private in Battery A, R. I. N. G., to go to the Mexican Border, where I spent most of my time trying to break horses and not break my neck. This was the only National Guard Battery to break its own horses. I remained on the Border for five months and then returned to my business to be called within a few months to join the A. E. F. Commissioned First Lieutenant, F. A.

Married in 1919—settled down to the serious business of raising and supporting a family. Have one claim to distinction. Am the only member of my class who is married and lives in Harmony (R. I.)

Hobbies : Country, Dogs, Tennis.

RALPH HAROLD CHADWICK

BORN : Gardiner, Maine, February 6, 1892. PARENTS : Joseph W. Chadwick, Bertha M. (Harriman) Chadwick.

PREPARED AT : Hillsboro High, Hillsboro, N. H.

IN COLLEGE : 1908-1912. DEGREE : Sc.B.

OCCUPATION : Engineer.

MARRIED : Jessie Orff, Fort Wayne, Ind., April 14, 1917.

ADDRESSES : (home) 2309 Hoagland Avenue, Fort Wayne, Indiana;

WELL, in the words of Little Jack Little, "Here 'tis"; the information for the class book. Not very exciting, but I will try to disclose all my secrets.

Earl Jackson '11 got a job with the Audiffren Refrigerating Co., and they sent him to Fort Wayne, where their machines were being manufactured in the plant of the General Electric Co. Earl painted a bright picture of the middle west for me, and got me a job in the G. E. test course. A month after I landed here, he went back east, but here I am 25 years later.

Spent six months on the G. E. test course, then was offered a job in the transformer engineering department, where I went to work making sketches, pushing a slide rule, etc. In 1926 appointed (official title) Engineer, Specialty Transformer Department, Fort Wayne Works.

No war experience. I was married about the time the U. S. declared war, and decided to let the draft take its course, and just missed being called. Joined the state militia which was formed to take the place of the National Guard when the latter was called into federal service, got to be a second lieutenant, and participated in "the battle of Indiana Harbor," during the 1919 steel strike.

No occasion to forget modesty as far as my job is concerned. It's just a job of trying to encourage and coordinate the activities of some 20 or 25 engineers and draftsmen so that they may design more and better transformers. I hold about three patents on rather trivial inventions. Have contributed some articles to technical magazines. Am a member of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and was chairman of the Fort Wayne section along about 1920. Belong to the Fort Wayne Chamber of Commerce and the Fort Wayne Engineers Club; at present chairman of the program committee of the latter. For the past two years have served as chairman of a couple of technical committees for the National Electrical Manufacturers' Association.

Belong to a dancing club called "Artists and Models"! Also to Orchard Ridge Country Club. At present a member of the board of directors and chairman of the membership committee.

Not much there, is there, to show for twenty-five years, but they have been pleasant years, and have brought to my wife and me many grand friendships, which will go far toward making the years ahead pleasant ones too.

GEORGE RAYMOND COBB

DURING the summer of 1910 I left Providence and Class of 1912. With considerable inducement I departed for Colorado with a Boston mining outfit. It was gold mining and I worked in the capacity of field engineer and prospected several thousand acres of mineral property. It was an exciting experience for two years. Then I went to Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, as an estimator in the building industry. The effects of the World War and depressions failed to force a change in occupation. However, the vicissitudes of the construction business certainly led me to a nomadic life, working in many of the states from Maine to Florida, in the positions of Architect's Superintendent, Resident Engineer, Superintendent of Construction and Clerk of Works.

Yes, "Buddies," I was "Over There." In the spring of 1918 I left Lockwood, Greene & Co., Engineers of Boston and entered as a private with the United States Army. With quick transfers from Camp Upton, N. Y., to Camp Joseph E. Johnson, Florida, and then to Camp Hill, Virginia, I soon arrived in Tours, France. Here I was commissioned immediately Sergeant, Headquarters Detachment, Army Service Corps and assisted in the organizing of this new department of the A. E. F. With the Armistice I transferred to Mentone, France (25-minute car ride from Monte Carlo).

With the ending of the war, I returned to Lockwood, Greene & Co., Engineers, as Resident Engineer. In the early 20's, the industrial engineering work was in decided recession and with this in view I made a fortunate change and turned my endeavors to supervision in the architectural field. Business was good and very exciting with me for a number of years. During the "good old times" I was Architect's Superintendent for George B. Post & Sons and Schultze & Weaver, Architects, New York, and also for Hutchins & French, Monks & Johnson, Clarence M. Hoyt, Architects of Boston. One of the high spots in my construction activities included supervision of the Roney Plaza Hotel, Miami Beach, during the roaring Florida boom days.

During the early days of the '29 depression I was supervising the construction of eight buildings for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. This program of work was carried out to help unemployment in the building trades and was completed in 1933.

Returning to Rhode Island in 1933, I was appointed Engineer and Assignment Officer, Civil Works Administration and assigned to East Providence, Barrington and Warren. In 1934, I was appointed by Secretary Ickes to the position of Assistant State Engineer Inspector, Rhode Island and Connecticut, Federal Emergency Public Works Administration. The assignment was Rhode Island administration of approximately $8,000,000 worth of very worthwhile construction projects, including East Providence Reservoir and Dam, Rhode Island State Airport, Point Judith Harbor Improvements, Sewerage System for Bristol, Pawtucket City Hall, numerous schools and institutional buildings and also highways. With the completion of the P. W. A. work, the writer was recently furloughed. At the height of the P. W. A. there was a personnel of 26, including 16 engineers, under my supervision in Rhode Island.

I ENTERED Tufts Medical School in 1912, and graduated with the Degree of Doctor of Medicine, cum laude, in 1916. I then interned at the St. Joseph's Hospital, Providence, R. I., and began the general practice of medicine in January, 1918, and have continued in the same since, without interruption, night and day.

I belong to numerous organizations, fraternal, medical and social, including Masonry, but have not been any too "hot" about any one in particular.

Talking about leisure, when one works 14 to 18 hours daily, including Sundays, leisure is taken in a hurry. Golf, pinochle, shows, etc., are all taken on the run.

The trend of events in this country and the world in general is toward more centralized control by politicians, big and little. There is absolutely no danger of communism for at least another thousand years. The present so-called communism of Russia is fascism under another name.

 ADDRESSES: (home) 3600 Cliff Road, Birmingham, Ala.; (business) 310 Liberty National Life Building, Birmingham, Ala.

IT'S strange that life can be so interesting and full of its moments of pleasure, disappointment, the boost of accomplishing some of our little jobs and all the other moments that kick us up or down a little and still in retrospect can seem so uninteresting to write about. The old associations mean so much to me that I'm going to tell you something of what my course has been for I'm very interested in knowing what the others have been doing.

My first trip from the Hill in 1912 was to Pittsburgh, where I drew salary checks from Barney Dreyfuss for mainly wearing out the seats in the trousers of his uniforms sliding around on the bench for four years. Quit playing ball at the end of the fourth year for I'd been taking a highway engineering course winters at Columbia—to be thoroughly honest, my main encouragement in leaving baseball flat was my wife, whom I married that fourth year.

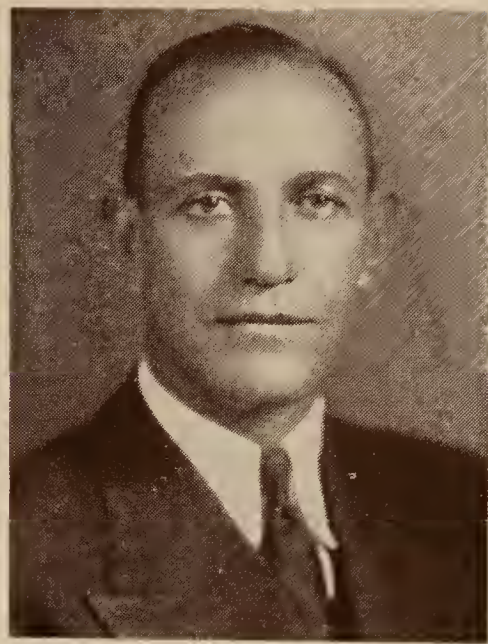

Came South with the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory as an asphalt inspector. Went in the Army air service during the war and as we seemed to have lots of training courses and few ships to fly, fought a very safe war in numerous class rooms. Didn't get across and returned to my old connections after the war. Managed this southeastern office at Birmingham a couple of years, then got in the rock asphalt end of the paving industry, first in Kentucky and for the past nine years here in Birmingham, where I am at present Vice President of the Alabama Asphaltic Limestone Company. Am also Vice President of the Aerocrete Western Corporation, Chicago.

My serious interests outside of business are an eleven-year-old daughter and two boys, six and four years old. These boys both handle themselves well and I can anticipate with a great deal of pleasure a trip to Providence in say fourteen years to watch them perform on a Brown team.

Golf is my most serious pastime. I'm not much of a joiner but am a member of the Association of Asphalt Paving Technologists, the American Society for Testing Materials, associate member of the American Society of Civil Engineers and belong to the Mountain Brook Country Club.

Haven't any prizes or honorary degrees but have written a few paving articles, have a patent for making cold lay asphaltic limestone paving mixture and three other patents in the process of either being accepted or rejected.

Nothing exciting but it's been a very interesting full twenty-five years for me. I'm looking forward with a great deal of pleasure to knowing where all the rest of the class is and what they are doing. When any of you come South, look me up—we see very few Brown men down here.

UNTIL war was declared by this country, I spent most of my time wandering about from one kind of business to another, only to find that none seemed to fit me for any length of time. I therefore absolutely to refuse to bore anyone with the details of the years 1912 to 1917, as nothing new or interesting happened to me. My life really began in 1917. The government requested my services and like many another, my Navy reminiscences are more adapted to a private conversation, where profanity can be indulged in, than to a chronicle. But I fared better than some. The first several months I spent plying between Hoboken and Brest in the transport service. This form of life did not altogether agree with me, so I was fortunately able to get transferred to the aviation service. After training at M. I. T., Bay Shore, L. I., and at Pensacola, Fla., I was assigned as an instructor in flying until relieved from active duty. Upon returning home my mind was still wavering regarding what I should do. Fortunately an opportunity came in the shoe business and I have been so engaged ever since.

ADDRESS : Chester, Vermont.

PRESENT at 25th Reunion.

THE years 1908 to 1912 were pretty much devoted to map publishing with college thrown in, and the years immediately following were much the same minus the college.

Being one of those out-of-step Vermont Republicans, working for someone else didn't work out so well, so my brother and I started our own business in 1913, under the name "The National Survey"—which we're still sailing under. Had things going fine when all our sales force went to war with the student training corps, so there wasn't much left to fold up when I rushed off for the battle of Camp Devens. Ended up with the military mapping service, stationed at headquarters Boston (pretty tough).

Resumed the subscription map business, which reached its peak in 1927 when we employed 287 college students in their summer vacation, from offices in Philadelphia, Columbus, Ohio, and Chester, Vt. With the advent of give-away oil maps this type of business became supplanted by map-advertising and folder work (contract jobs) which is our principal business. We also have several advertising services, of which Consolidated Tours is the largest, and several annual publications, including guide books, trade directories, motor vehicle registers, etc. Map merchandising has become relegated to the background, but we still publish the series of "Official National Survey Maps" and numerous other items. We do the engineering, editorial, and art work here in the seclusion of the Green Mountains, and most of our product is actually manufactured in New York City and other large centers.

Non-business activities: Masonic Lodge, American Legion (Past Commander), Village Trustee, Town Auditor, Town Moderator, Republican Committee, Baptist Church, garden, fishing (and the greatest of these is fishing).

"No. 9. How do you feel about the present trend of events in the U. S.?" That's not a fair question to ask of a Vermont Republican. Come on up to Vermont and I'll give it to you out behind the barn somewhere (the answer to the question). Yes, we do have hard cider, and maple sugar—and other things.

OCCUPATION: Owner, Cummings Creamery Co.

MARRIED: A. Dorothy Smith, Providence, R. I., April 19, 1916. CHILDREN: Ruth Elizabeth, April 10, 1917; Audrey Smith, December 17, 1921; Roswell Sherrard, February 3, 1926; Myron Lloyd, September 7, 1932.

ADDRESSES: (home) 23 Cheney Street, Newport, N. H.; (business) 12 Central Street, Newport, N. H.

AFTER leaving Brown, found myself working as a draftsman in the James H. Tower Iron Works, Providence, R. I. In 1914, went back to Bradford, N. H., and work with C. A. Danforth & Co., a general store. During 1918, was a salesman for the Loose Wiles Biscuit Co., in Fitchburg, Mass. Then moved to Newport, N. H., where I became manager of the grocery department, Condon's Market, and in 1920, manager of the Newport Provision Co.

LLOYD ROSWELL CUMMINGS

In June, 1924, I purchased the provision business owned by Robert T. Martin, which was operated under the style of Lloyd R. Cummings until Jan. 1, 1935.

In 1926, established Cummings Creamery Co. in Newport to manufacture butter, as a side line. The blame thing grew, in spite of me, and we were handling five tons of milk daily in a short time. Now we sell pasteurized milk locally, and have a large summer business in the vicinity of Newport and Lake Sunapee.

In order to use up the skim milk, bought a farm and went into the hog business, in 1929. I've developed the farm to carry 40 head of registered Holstein cattle, besides the hogs. This farm is an excuse for not playing golf. Can't afford both.

Leisure time gives me no concern. Your quart of milk must be on the doorstep seven mornings per week.

In January, 1928, elected a member of the Board of Directors of Citizens National Bank, Newport, and continued until present time.

Ventured into politics only once. Elected to the School Board for one year in 1933. Beaten four to one for re-election next year. Decided you can't run politics on a business basis.

Was married in 1916—and the family, two boys and two girls, runs all the way from a Senior in Simmons to a four-year-old baby.

IN the Fall of 1912, I accepted a position as science teacher in Lyndon Institute, a private academy in Lyndon Center, Vermont. I taught physics, chemistry and biology for two years. During that time I became engaged to one of the other teachers in the school. At the end of two years I entered Harvard Medical School, leaving my fiancée to teach school for another five years. I graduated from Harvard Medical School in February, 1918.

I was in the Medical Reserve Corps and assigned to complete my medical education. I did not see active service. We were promised active service as soon as we received our degrees but later we were ordered to take a year's internship before going into service. I completed a year's internship in surgery at the Massachusetts General Hospital just after the Armistice in January, 1919.

During part of my medical course I had been a student intern in the Collis P. Huntington Hospital, a cancer hospital under the Harvard Cancer Commission. It was in this institution that I made my first contacts in the field of cancer. Following my internship in the Massachusetts General Hospital I opened an office for the practice of surgery. I became a member of the visiting staff of the Huntington Hospital and remained on the staff until 1934. I also became assistant in private practice to Dr. Robert Greenough, who was one of the eminent authorities on cancer in this country and I worked as his assistant for eight years.

I was married in 1919 to the same person to whom I had been engaged in 1914! During this time I also served on the staff of the Massachusetts General Hospital and was promoted from the position of assistant out-patient surgeon to out-patient surgeon and at the present time I am assistant visiting surgeon to that hospital.

In 1927 I was appointed Chief of Staff and Chief Surgeon of the Pondville Hospital, a state cancer hospital situated midway between Boston and Providence. A cancer hospital under state auspices was something new, not having been carried out in any country. An old hospital previously used for other purposes was rebuilt and the hospital established. This has become a 150-bed hospital for cancer with about 1,200 house admissions a year and 3,500 clinic visits. This hospital now has a visiting staff of twenty-three men and nine resident physicians.

My work has always been limited entirely to surgery and at the present time I am a consulting surgeon to the Huntington Hospital and do private surgery in the Palmer Memorial, Deaconess, Faulkner, Beth Israel and the Norwood Hospitals.

My literary efforts are limited to about thirty surgical publications. My chief athletic activities are gardening during the season and supervising the athletic activities of three husky children, ages 11, 10 and 7, during the rest of the year. I have not yet taken up golf. During the summer swimming is my chief pastime. I have never held a public office.

I have been recently engaged in helping found another Massachusetts cancer hospital to be located in Westfield, Massachusetts. I am to have general medical supervision of that hospital, mostly in absentia.

I belong to the Harvard Club of Boston, the Aesculapian Club and the St. Botolph Club. I am a member of the Boston Surgical Society, New England Surgical Society, Massachusetts Medical Society and a fellow of the American College of Surgeons. I am one of the founders of the American Board of Surgery.

I'M afraid that you will have to put me down as the rolling stone, with little moss to show. Sixteen of the past 25 years have been spent in India and about eight months in Manila, P. I. It's been a great life but a movable one and the suit cases are a bit battered.

After leaving college I went out to Ahmednagar, India, where I was headmaster of a Mission High School for three years, the last year doing some Y. M. C. A. voluntary work among German prisoners and British soldiers during my afternoons and evenings.

In the spring of 1916 I tried my hand at the lumber business in Manila but decided to return to the U. S. A. and take a course in the Theological Seminary at Hartford, Conn. My course there was interrupted by six months in the Army in 1918, in November of which I was commissioned second lieutenant of infantry, U. S. Reserve Corps. I also took the plunge in June of that year and married Elsie C. Smith of Fairfield, Conn. Returning in November to the Seminary, I graduated in May, 1919, and was ordained to the Congregational ministry that same month.

That fall we went to India, where for five years I was principal of the Union Training College for Teachers at Ahmednagar. Our three children were born during that term: Mary, now aged 16; Wilbur, Jr., aged 15, and Donald, aged 13.

We came back to the good old U. S. A. in 1925 and I did special work for the Ph.D. degree at Hartford, securing it in 1927. I was also during that time pastor of the Congregational Church at Westport, Conn.

We returned to India in 1927 and stayed there until 1934, doing literary work, church work, and having charge of a community house. I was editor of two periodicals at various times and published three monographs on Hindu poets, as follows: "Ramdas and the Ramdasis"; "Eknath"; and "Selections from Tukaram."

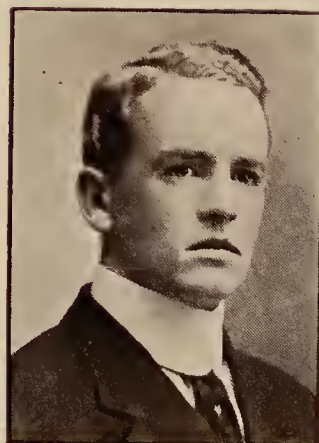

Since our return to this country in 1934 I have had a year of travel and speaking for the American Board, and during the last two years have been the minister of the First Congregational Church in Washington, Conn. We remained in America so as to be with our children during the educational process. And believe me, it is good to be back in this area where the Demings came from. My great-grandfather's homestead is ten miles away at Litchfield.

Am a Mason, a former Rotarian, a former Legionnaire. I did a bit of hunting in India but cannot lay claim to any special hobbies. My special interest has been the history of religion, especially Hinduism.

Being so far away much of the time I have been out of touch with the class and the developments at Brown. It is good to think that I am now near enough to be able to get back occasionally and see the members of the class.

ADDRESSES: (home) 700 Small Avenue, Selma, Alabama; (business) Selma University, Selma, Alabama.

UPON leaving Brown in 1912, I returned to Selma, Alabama, my home since I was 3½, and started teaching in the University. From classroom teacher in the high school and college department I was made Dean of the Literary Department in 1914, until my resignation in 1917. I anticipated teaching elsewhere but left almost immediately for the Officers' Training Camp at Des Moines, Iowa, where I was commissioned a First Lieutenant of Infantry in the Officers' Reserve Corps, and assigned to the 366th Infantry at Camp Dodge, Iowa. The next two years were spent travelling with the Army through France. Upon returning to this country I was employed as a civilian in the Ordnance Receiving Depot at Pig Point, Virginia, and then returned to Selma University where I again took up teaching and remained until the Fall of 1927 at which time I attended the Teachers' College at Columbia University and I received my Master of Arts degree in 1931. Returning to Selma I became Assistant to the President, Acting President, Dean, and on June 1, 1935, became President of the University. While at Columbia I was awarded the Caroline Phelps Stokes prize for an essay on "The Constitutional Right and Desirability of New York State to Develop and Operate Its Water Power Resources," and the Taxation Quarterly magazine of New York published my article on "Taxation and Health." I was Secretary of the Alabama State Teachers Association from 1922-1926, and Deacon of the Tabernacle Baptist Church of Selma in 1935. I have occupied pulpits and taken texts at regular preaching hours, but never preached, since I am the first layman to hold my present position. At one time or another I have had to teach just about everything in the curriculum, except home economics, from elementary woodworking to Homer's Iliad and Analytical Geometry. In politics I am a Single Taxer, a Prohibitionist, and no changer of the Constitution; in religion a Christian and a Baptist, old fashioned; in education, what W. C. Bagley calls a "stalwart"; in science, a believer in the creation of each type by God; and withal I am a lover of Brown.

PRESENT at 25th Reunion.

UPON graduating I got a job with Swift & Co. at the stock yards in Chicago, my intention being to learn, and eventually control, the packing house business of the country. By 1913 I realized that I was not a good salesman of beef and started in law school. After graduating in 1916 I got admitted to the New York Bar and then went to Providence and realized an ambition to associate in practice with Ira Letts. He and I worked in the same law office and got admitted at the same time to the Rhode Island Bar in 1917.

By going to Plattsburg and saying very little I was commissioned in the Field Artillery. When the war ended I had a major's rank and no job, but with the assistance of a good Brown man, Arthur Driscoll, I got a position with the New York firm of Nicoll, Anable, Fuller & Sullivan.

In due course that firm dissolved and Mr. Sullivan and I formed a partnership and practiced together at No. 54 Wall Street. After his death, I moved to No. 14 Wall Street, where my firm, Sullivan, Donovan & Heenehan, now carry on a general practice. As partners I have a Dartmouth man and a Fordham man and am willing to admit that there are other colleges almost as good as Brown.

Having married a Texan, I am also willing to admit that there are other parts of the country as good as New England. My three boys at present are threatening to go to Brown and investigate my past.

Around my present home town of New Rochelle, I play a little bad golf and a very little worse bridge and in such limited time as is available to a commuter I help out a bit on the old people's home and the Community Chest but do not mix any politics with my law. If any of the members of the class know of any pieces of early American furniture that can be had at the right price, I should be very much interested in hearing from them.

Aside from the Downtown Association for lunch, Wykagyl Country Club for golf and Brown University Club of New York for meeting the right people, I don't spend much time around clubs. As for the other hobbies, honors, etc., mentioned in the questionnaire, there don't seem to be any, but on the subject of travel, I heartily recommend Ireland.

AS a result of the war, the depression, the new deal, etc., I am not going to paint an illustrious picture for you. At any rate, here goes.

Through Prof. Watson took student course in plant of General Electric Co. at Schenectady. Then a junior engineer with Public Service Commission, New York State. Then engineer with New York Central Railroad.

Then the war: First Lieutenant of Engineers, Training Camp, then connected with office of Chief Engineer, U. S. A., developing the new 60" open type searchlight for the Army.

After the war took up sales engineering and have been at it ever since. Member of Washington Board of Trade, Electric Institute of Washington, Society of Military Engineers.

Interested in Masonry and business organization.

In past few years have spent vacations in auto travel covering the large national parks and other points of interest from Maine to California and from Canada to Mexico.

No time for loafing. Play bridge and attempt golf. No one hobby. None but the usual war medal.

Could write a book on this. Very little in the new deal that I approve. The world: the worst mess it has ever been in. Communism: a dangerous serpent with its coils wound about a large part of the world and entirely too active in the good old U. S. A.

Member of Army-Navy Country Club of Washington, Sojourners Club, "Heroes of '76."

THEODORE BRYANT FARNSWORTH

OH well! I just will have to break down and confess after you have smoked me out that there really is not much to write about in making up the sketch of my activities since graduation.

After leaving the Aluminum Company of America in 1915 where I landed my first job in company with Frank Barrows, Allan Williams, and Edward Warner immediately after leaving college I secured my present position with the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing Company of Manitowoc, Wisconsin. Alternating between Chicago and Detroit I have finally made my headquarters in the latter city as Sales Engineer of this concern.

Outside of my business my chief diversion is found in sailing. As a youngster and up through my college days I received some good training in the art of sailing on Narragansett Bay. It was not until 1924 that my finances permitted me to take to the water in Chicago and later in Detroit in 1928.

Have won the Port Huron-Mackinac race in my class four times; in 1928 with the schooner "Viking," in 1933 and 1934 with the schooner "Nawanna" and in 1936 with my present boat, the ketch "Chantey." Placed second this year, losing in an all-night drifting match at the finish by a few boat lengths. Have sailed in twelve Mackinac races in Chicago and Detroit.

Was Commodore of the Bayview Yacht Club of Detroit in 1933. At present am Fleet Captain of the Bayview Yacht Club; Chairman of the Larger Sail Yacht Committee and also a member of the Regatta Committee of the Detroit Yacht Club, as well as Chairman of the Deep Water Race Committee for the Inter-Lake Yachting Association at the Put-in-Bay regatta.

Also enjoy a good game of bridge. Gave up golf because it interfered with sailing.

My daughter, Dorothy, is a member of the sophomore class at Wheaton this year.

My plans to attend the 25th reunion were knocked into a cocked hat at the last moment by pressure of business to my ever-lasting regret. Now I am looking forward to our 30th.

PRESENT at 25th Reunion.

WITH fear and trembling lest Prexy Faunce might change his mind on that memorable day in 1912, I snatched my diploma and rushed home to Chardon, Ohio, to join my father in the dry goods business, thinking that in a few short years I would make John Wanamaker and Marshall Field turn green with envy.

I did fairly well until the war came on, joining up with Base Hospital No. 4 from Cleveland, Ohio. We had the distinction (if any) of being the first American troops in France, staying two years in Rouen and seeing no action whatsoever. While there I was in charge of the Quartermaster's Department.

Upon reaching home I found our business had been sold, so headed for California.

For about ten years I was connected here in Los Angeles with Bullocks Department Store, being Assistant Buyer of the men's furnishings. The past few years I have tried a little of everything, real estate, mortgage loans, etc.

I finally married in 1928 but it did not take, too old and cranky by then I guess and consequently unlike Sprack, cannot boast of any grandchildren, not even a chick.

My pet hobbies are bridge and deep sea fishing at Catalina.

CLARENCE FRANK GIFFORD

WELL, Classmates, I can get an easy start in drawing up this sketch of my doings in the first twenty-five years. As many of you will know, I remained at Brown until 1914; taking an A.M. in 1913 and working my passage as an assistant to Walter Ballou Jacobs in the Department of Education, an associational experience that I shall always greatly cherish. I then entered Newton Theological Institution, completing the regular Bachelor of Divinity course there in 1916 and remaining for a year of graduate study under an income-bearing fellowship. The extra year (1917), co-registered as a special student at Harvard Divinity School, I received from Newton the degree of S.T.M. During most of this period (1912-1917) I was also employed as student pastor of Temple Chapel (Baptist), North Tiverton, R. I., and in December, 1913, was ordained to the Baptist ministry in the Baptist Church, Danielson, Conn., of which I was a member at the time. In June, 1917, I accepted a position as assistant pastor of the First Baptist Church, Fall River, Mass., where I continued until the close of the year 1921. On January 1, 1922, I took up the yoked work of the Congregational and First Christian Churches, Assonet, Mass., which churches I still serve.

As indicative of some of the interests in life to which I have given myself I tack on the following. I am a past president of the Sons of Brown of Fall River and vicinity, served as a member of the School Committee of Freetown for three years, am a Past Master of Assonet Grange, a scoutmaster in active service for 15 years and have been Town Moderator here now for 12 years. From 1912 up to a few years ago I was either registered or enrolled as a candidate for the Ph.D. degree at Brown. I majored first in Philosophy, then in Biblical Literature and History, commuting or motoring from Assonet to Providence for a number of years, but having finally to relinquish the task. On this 25th Anniversary year I have had the great satisfaction of seeing a nephew, Harold S. Barrett of Providence, graduate with high distinction from Brown.

I have done most everything under the sun as a pastor, community leader and friend, have been on no end of committees.

As you see from foregoing, I have been busy these many years as a doctor. Outside of this, I have little to offer. Progress has been gradual but persistent, and I have had my share of success. I have a large investment in four children. This seems the safest, though costliest type in this present day. Time will decide whether it is a good one.

I.; 1918-1924, Engineer with Warren B. Lewis, Consulting Engineer, Providence, R. I.; 1918-1919, 2nd Lieutenant, Air Service, six months in France; 1924 to date, Engineer with Jenks & Ballou, Consulting Engineers, Providence, R. I.; 1921-1927, Officer in 243rd Coast Artillery, R. I. National Guard, reaching rank of Captain.

I am one of the few 1912 engineering graduates who has continued in straight engineering work, because I find the work continually varied and interesting.

Regarding my war experience, I enlisted for a course of training in aviation, was sent to a radio school, and was used in the S. O. S. because of my engineering experience and knowledge of French.

My hobbies are few, being contract bridge and music. I find that I like most people and have but three pet aversions; namely, pepper, toasted bread, and architects.

I have not written any books, but some of my engineering reports with a circulation of three or four copies have sold for thousands of dollars.

I am a member of the Providence Engineering Society, the New England Water Works Association, the American Society of Mechanical Engineers, the R. I. Society of Professional Engineers, and the Foyer Franco-American.

BORN: Manville, R. I., October 6, 1887. PARENTS: Edwin R. Handy, Eliza C. Handy.

IN August, 1912, two months after graduation, I entered the service of Swift & Company, starting my employment in the cattle buying department of that company in the stockyards at Chicago. My first job was that of a "driver," taking cattle from the stockyards to the company's nearby packing house. In due course I became a buyer and bought cattle for Swift & Company at the Chicago and the South St. Paul, Minnesota, stockyards, until the spring of 1916. For the next two and one-half years I was with the Sioux City Stock Yards Company at Sioux City, Iowa, as Assistant Superintendent, then going to South St. Paul to become Superintendent of the Saint Paul Union Stockyards Company, with which company I still remain, now as Vice President and General Manager. In point of numbers of livestock handled, our company was second among all the stockyards of the country in 1936.

My principal recreation is golf. There are many fine courses in the Twin Cities. Whenever I have the opportunity I like to fish and the thousands of easily accessible lakes of Minnesota and Wisconsin furnish an abundance of this kind of sport.

FAMILY MEMBER OF BROWN : John C. Hennessy, 1910.

ADDRESS : Box 75, Carteret, New Jersey.

IN the summer of 1912 my first opportunity of an engineering nature was with the Public Works Department of New York City. Later, my work took me to a newly established bureau, the aim of which was to grade the work and standardize salaries of municipal employees.

At the expiration of this I shifted to reportorial work on New York newspapers—journalism having been a family calling since before the Civil War.

In the World War I enlisted in the Navy and was later assigned to the Bureau of Naval Intelligence. Subsequently, my work brought me in contact with leading American industries. After the war I was invited to associate myself with a group of them in New Jersey that had industrial relations and other problems. I have been in this work ever since, handling all sorts of problems that have to do with their industrial and public relations in connection with manufacturing operations. I have continued to contribute to newspapers and periodicals along lines of my experience.

My outside interests have included fishing, golf, music and the theatre, not to forget in some little degree the New York Brown Club.

OCCUPATION: Major Coast Artillery Corps, U. S. Army.

MARRIED: Janet Hughes, November 15, 1917.

ADDRESS: Coast Artillery Office, Pittsburgh, Pa.

AFTER leaving school I spent some time in Panama, with the Isthmian Canal Commission and the Panama Canal Commission, leaving the latter organization to enter the regular Army in 1917.

I remained in Panama until late in the spring of 1918, when I returned to the United States, took a short course at the Coast Artillery School, and departed for France with the 47th Coast Artillery.

Following the Armistice, I roved back and forth between France and Germany. Returned to the U. S. in the summer of 1919. Spent three years in Portland, Me., as Ordnance Officer, then a year at the Coast Artillery School, Fort Monroe, leaving there for a four-year detail at the University of Cincinnati. Then followed three years in Hawaii (1927-30), four in California at Fort Winfield Scott, and then two more in Hawaii.

In the summer of 1936, I reached Pittsburgh, to take charge of the Coast Artillery office. Since then, I've been instructor for three regiments of anti-aircraft artillery.

In brief, that's my story. It seems incredible that the times spent here and there add up to twenty-five years, nearly half of which have been spent outside of the United States, and very little of the remainder in the East, near Providence.

For the past fourteen years approximately I have been selling for the J. T. Slocomb Co. of Providence, traveling throughout the East, mostly in New England and New York State. My home is here in Rhode Island, in Pawtuxet, near where I was raised and where my wife was raised.

We live near the bay and in summer spend most of our leisure time around the water, boating, swimming, etc. We've had our ups and downs, sickness and troubles, but we have had a happy home and I guess our share of the blessings of this life.

KARL HUMPHREY

IMMEDIATELY after graduation I was fortunate enough to have a trip to Europe and on my return from same went to work as a messenger boy in a bank. This was quite valuable in teaching one the gentle art of stalling, but was rather disappointing from the viewpoint of learning anything of a practical nature.

Within a year or so after I went into the manufacturing of specialty goods for the optical trade and stayed with it for several years but as the wearing of lorgnettes became obsolete decided to close up the business.

Since then I have been connected with the Federal Trucks, Inc., of Providence, R. I., and have puttered around with a small finance company.

As for war experience, I was consistently turned down by various organizations before the draft took place and then they sure did put me in my place. As I remember it, there were five classes in the draft and the fifth class had five divisions, the last one including those physically infirm, insane and criminals. This was the class I landed in, so my war experience was nil.

As for travel, I have had several trips, including Jamaica, West Indies, etc., and hope for more.

Leisure activities are confined to contract bridge and fishing. In the former I have played quite a lot of tournament bridge and have been fortunate enough to win the open pair championship in Rhode Island, get into the finals of the New England team of four only to lose out and have done a fair job in various other tournaments. My fishing has been combined with trips to New Brunswick for Atlantic salmon and this is really the most enjoyable avocation that I know of.

At the present time the only club membership I have retained is that of the University Club in Providence. As for political activities, they have been confined chiefly to crabbing the present administration.

I ATTENDED the University of Pennsylvania Law School, graduating from there with a degree of LL.B., in 1916. Following that, I was engaged in the practice of law in the City of New York, with the firm of Admiralty lawyers, of McFarland, Taylor & Costello, until April, 1917; then attended the First Officers' Training Camp at Fort Niagra, New York, being commissioned Captain of Infantry in August, 1917; assigned to the One Hundred Tenth Infantry, Twenty-eighth Division, at Camp Hancock, Augusta, Georgia; later being transferred to the Three Hundred Seventy-first Infantry, at Camp Jackson, Columbia, South Carolina, and sailed with that organization for France on April 6, 1918, where we were brigaded with and part of the French Army, the One Hundred Fifty-seventh French Division, throughout the duration of the war; our particular organization having seen action almost continuously on the French sector, until the Armistice.

I returned and engaged in the practice of law in Pittsburgh, in the Spring of 1919, where I have been continuously since. For the past fifteen years, I have represented the City of McKeesport and numerous other municipalities, and have engaged extensively in corporate and receivership work.

Since returning from the war, I have traveled all over the United States, Canada, the West Indies and Mexico, and have made a few trips to Europe.

I am unmarried; Republican; and a member of the various Masonic lodges here.

Company also but the large percentage of them gradually drifted into other business. After about six months I was transferred to Kansas City plant where I worked until 1917, except for one year spent on sales work in Tulsa, Oklahoma. I joined the Army in November, 1917, went across in January, 1918, and returned to the States in July, 1919. I returned to Swift's Chicago plant for a few months and was then sent to Denver, where I stayed until 1923. While in Denver I married Frances Farrar. Transferred to Chicago again in 1923 and stayed there until 1925 when I was sent to Des Moines, Iowa. I lived there until 1931 when I was put in charge of the plant in Watertown, South Dakota; after two years there I was moved to San Antonio, Texas, to take over a new plant, where I am now located.

All my work since leaving college has been with Swift & Company and practically all of it has been spent in the Middle West. Unfortunately I have had very little contact with my classmates and have seen very few Brown men.

I have enjoyed living in the wide open spaces and made many friends in the several places I have lived. I am particularly fond of San Antonio. It is a very unusual city due to the large Mexican population. The famous Alamo, cradle of Texas liberty, is in the heart of the downtown section. It is famous as a winter and health resort due to an excellent all-year climate. Fort San Houston, Randolph and Kelly Fields are famous throughout the world as Army and Air training posts and give San Antonio a splendid military and social background.

At the present time I am a member of the Chamber of Commerce, Manufacturers' Association, State Manufacturers' Association and a Director on the San Jacinto Fiesta Association, which annually directs the weekly celebration commemorating the Fall of the Alamo and Independence of Texas.

OCCUPATION : Dean and Professor of English, Wabash College.

MARRIED : Yvonne Geyer, Besancon, France, June 30, 1919.

ADDRESSES : (home) 503 Crawford Street, Crawfordsville, Ind. ; (business) Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind.

ATTENDED Wisconsin University 1912-13 and took an A.M. in Mediaeval History under Dana Munro's father. Traveling and at home in St. Louis latter half of 1913. Went to Columbia in February, 1914, and studied English there three semesters and two summer sessions. Began as instructor in Columbia College, September, 1915.

Went to Plattsburg May, 1917, and France, September, 1917. Thought and think war nonsense, but was bored reading themes and curious. Didn't see much, being made a shave-tail instructor in artillery and balloons. However, had an agreeable time, and in 1919, met and married Yvonne Geyer, an Alsatian, one entirely happy feature of the war.

Back to Columbia for 1919-20. Came to Wabash College as Professor of English, invited through Columbia friend, a Wabash alumnus. Elected Dean of the Faculty, 1923. Been at it ever since ; still teach, mostly English, some French. Glad to see Brown is adopting a divisionally organized curriculum. We've had one since 1928 and it works well. Seniors now toil instead of taking a vacation inappropriate to their years.

Got roped into organizing a National Guard unit back in 1923 and shortened my life on Rotary luncheons for a couple of years. No really serious interests outside profession. Get a deal of fun out of books, trees, and amateur plays. Have a pleasant rebuilt house, pretty old for these parts, and enjoy Mrs. Kendall's garden. We travel a good deal, having parents in Alsace and Portland, Oregon. World crazy and interesting, as usual.

AFTER graduation actuarial work at the Massachusetts Mutual Life Insurance Company occupied my time for almost five years. Then, becoming weary of sitting at a desk continually, I left to go into teaching.

After a year in a small private school in the Berkshires I entered the Army and before long was enlisted in the Chemical Warfare Service at Cleveland, which was as near as it was possible for me to get to the trenches. The manufacture of mustard gas, tear gas and the like at times seemed almost as hazardous as dodging bullets.

When the Armistice was signed I began teaching physics at Case School of Applied Science in Cleveland. The lure of New York was great, however, for after two years I left to take up teaching Mathematics at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn.

In 1928 I left there to go to Denison University in Granville, Ohio, where I still live, teaching Mathematics and Engineering subjects.

I married in 1919 but my wife died in 1926 after a short illness.

I have written nothing worth publishing. My chief hobbies at present are reading and geneological study.

I belong to or I might say help support, through dues, several learned societies, attendance at whose meetings gives me a good excuse for short vacations during the year.

PRESENT Commencement Day.

AFTER graduating from college my first job was with the Massachusetts Highway Department, and I was with them for about two years as Junior Engineer in charge of construction. My worst job was down below New Bedford and my grandest job was building three miles of highway opposite Wellesley College buildings and, mind you, when college was in session. This was followed by a business venture, Automatic Stokers, which was interrupted in turn by the World War.

Went over with the 26th Division the 19th of September, 1917, First Lieutenant, Battery A, 102nd Field Artillery. Was returned to Fort Sill in May as Regimental Artillery Instructor. Was discharged January 29, 1919.

Returned to Haverhill, where I married my present wife and went into the shoe business with her father and brother. No inventions, not much at writing and outside of Chambers of Commerce, and shoe organizations, I have no business social connections.

Was a Rotarian for four or five years but couldn't stand the strain. I suppose my most serious purpose outside of this is the Reserve Movement, as I am still in it, and at present, Colonel of the 389th Field Artillery.

This is a very tough question to answer. Where they are available in the proper season, shooting and sailing; like golf but not good at it; the same holds true of bridge.

No real serious hobby unless you can call the Reserve Movement a hobby.

No honorary degrees, decorations nor citations.

Refuse to be drawn into any discussions. This is a tough question except that I think that the ordinary citizen of this country is not nearly enough alarmed over the increasing tendency towards Communism. Our present government is a sad example of the lazy manner in which a good many citizens take their civic obligations.

Belong to the A. D. P., of course, at one time the Rotary Club, at present, American Legion, Haverhill Country Club, Fortnightly Club, Mass. O. R. C.

PRESENT at 25th Reunion.

AFTER leaving college I was employed by the Ocean Accident & Guarantee Co. of New York and later with the Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co.

While representing the latter company in New Hampshire, Vermont and Maine, war was declared and I was drafted.

I arranged to be assigned with Rhode Island men. After early training at Camp Devens I was transferred to the Engineers Officers Training School, at St. Petersburg, Va. Was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant ; trained at Fort Foote, Va., and Washington Barracks for a short time and was sent across with a replacement outfit of Engineers.

Served overseas with the 116th, 6th, 117th and 113th Engineers. Was commissioned a First Lieutenant Engineer, December, 1918.

While in France, met and married my wife, Marie Josephine Ferron, at La Flèche Sarthe, June 5th, 1919.

Was detached and returned to the States July, 1919. Entered the Field Artillery Reserve and served until 1933 and was discharged in the grade of Captain.

After discharge from regular service I remained in Providence and was employed by John B. Lewis as a local construction Engineer.

In 1921 I entered Civil Service and since that time have been with what is known now as the United States Veterans Administration. Early work with this bureau was in connection with vocational training of disabled World War veterans. Since 1928 I have served as a local board that determines the veterans' eligibility to compensation and the amount to be granted.

I have three children, the eldest a son, Georges, a junior at Classical High School. Two daughters, the older, Jacqueline Marie, about to enter high school ; the younger, Madeleine Emma, is still in the primary grades.

They constitute my greatest interest for the future.

HOWARD GOVE MAC MILLAN

AFTER leaving Brown, my education having begun, I continued to the University of Wisconsin to undertake graduate work in plant pathology. Associations there, and a growing demand in the western states for the control of crop diseases, took me to Greeley, Colorado, where I began a study of western potato diseases, and the investigation of the diseases of vegetable crops under irrigation, as a member of the U. S. Bureau of Plant Industry. The work continued in Colorado until 1930.

An occurrence developed from time to time. I was deprived of any participation in the War, being ordered by the then Secretary of Agriculture to neither resign nor enlist. I married Cornelia Mathews in Brookings, South Dakota. In time children were born, three girls, the oldest now a sophomore in college.

On leaving Colorado in 1930 I came to California to continue the work in vegetable diseases, but interruptions began to develop. I undertook an expedition to South America to search for potatoes to be used in breeding disease resistant types. This involved searches in Bolivia, Chile and Peru.

With the rising interest in soil erosion and restoration of the western grass lands, another expedition was called for. I conducted a search for grasses in Manchuria and the eastern grass lands of the Gobi, probably the last which will enter these regions for some time.

Until circumstances change I am again involved in the study of vegetable diseases and their control, an effort which seems never to reach consummation.

WORKED two years at road-building, sandwiching two winter sessions at Columbia, Davis School of Highway Engineering, under Profs. Arthur Blanchard and Henry Drowne, while trying to earn a living thusly.

January, 1915, accepted a chance to go Pittsburgh for Lee C. Moore & Co., manufacturing oil derricks, which job kept me busy in the Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Ohio gas and oil fields, also Oklahoma (where I ran across the Mahoney twins in February, 1917) until Uncle Sam became a party to the free-for-all scrap called the World War. Entered the First Officers Training Camp at Ft. Niagara in May, 1917, and also dropped in July for bad eyesight, was accepted for enlistment a few months later, so was in despite the medical department. Went overseas with the 23rd (Highway) Engineers late in January, 1918, was sent down to the school at Langres, commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant Engineer and assigned to the 6th Engineers Regiment of the 3rd Division. Helped win the war with this outfit, and went through all engagements with nothing more serious than a few mustard gas burns. Had considerable to do as I was athletic officer, which was a real job when we "hit" Germany after the Armistice. Came back in time to be discharged in August, 1919, and went to work for the American Stainless Steel Co. in Pittsburgh. With this company until early 1922 when I went down the river to work for Jones and Laughlin at their Aliquippa Plant. One of my many bosses was Tom Girdler, now boss at Republic Steel. Returned to Worcester in 1924 and worked for Curtis & Marble Machine Co., one of the very old concerns in the textile machinery business. When the depression really hit me, I grabbed the chance to utilize my Reserve commission, so signed up for flood control work on the Winooski River, in Vermont. From March, 1934, until the end of April, 1937, was in command either of a CCC company or a camp. Actually was stationed at various times in three states, Vermont, Massachusetts and New York, but the larger portion of the time was spent either near Montpelier or Waterbury, where the last of three dams is nearing completion. For reasons of economy, the officer personnel was reduced 25%, so became a civilian again. Am now working for the State Mutual Life Assurance Co. in Worcester.

Extra-curricular activities have been as follows : Associated Alumni, President for two years ; American Legion and Military Order of the World War, Society of the Third (Regular) Division, President for ten years ; Worcester Planning Board, Secretary for five years ; Worcester School Committee, ten years a member, two years chairman.

Still interested in athletics but have cut down to tennis, badminton and soccer, during football season, officiate college, and high school games with some success.

Principal occupation is taking care of a family of three : one wife, one boy, one girl.

HENRY GILDERSLEEVE MARSH

WITH the exception of two years spent at the invitation and expense of Uncle Sam in touring Camp Devens, England, France and Germany as Color Sergeant of the 301st Engineers, my time has been devoted to insurance. First with the Providence Washington Insurance Company as Manager of the Automobile Department, then as Special Agent, Automobile Department, of the Automobile Insurance Company of Hartford, and finally in the game for myself.

Outside office hours (and sometimes during them) I have given much of my time to the American Legion, the 301st Engineers Association, the Brown Club of Providence (as a member of the Executive Committee) and the Associated Alumni (a Vice President and, by invitation of the President, a member of the Executive Committee). I have also held membership in the Sons of the American Revolution, the Lions Club of Providence, and the British Empire Club. I am a charter member of Overseas Lodge, formed in Coblenz, Germany, in 1919 during the period that the Army of Occupation held the Coblenz bridgehead, and have been an officer of the lodge, the only one of its kind in the Masonic order. My interest in the Masons and their work began in 1916.

BEING obliged to leave college in the Spring of 1911 I acted as a Counsellor in a Maine boys' camp until Fall. In September, 1911, went with Manhattan Electrical Supply Co. of New York, where I became Sales Correspondent. In the Spring of 1912, was sent out on road as representative in Southern territory with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga., until 1914, when I was transferred to Western New York and made my home in Buffalo.

In March, 1917, went with the Connecticut Mutual Life Insurance Co., which I still represent. Seem to have found my right place here as I have consistently qualified for company honors and convention trips through production results.

In 1926 I determined to qualify for my college degree and after corresponding with the Registrar at Brown and learning that I had the equivalent of practically one and one-half years' work to complete—the final semester to be spent in residence—I busied myself with night courses at the University of Buffalo, taking work in economics, corporation finance, money and banking, investment securities and accounting, and in February, 1929, left my family and went back to Providence to complete an unfinished job. Graduated with the Class of 1929 and it was one of the most delightful experiences of my life. My mother, my wife, and two of my three daughters were present.

Belong to a golf club, other social and luncheon clubs, and am Elder of the North Presbyterian Church. Also spend considerable time in the garden of my home in Kenmore, a suburb of Buffalo.

Have been active in the Buffalo Brown Club, serving as Secretary fifteen years and President five years. With the help of Dr. Bigelow, Director of Admissions, we now have a mighty fine delegation of young men from Western New York matriculated at Brown, and we expect to keep up the good work.

BORN : Pawtucket, R. I., November 22, 1889. PARENTS : Walker Miller, Leona Theresa Miller.

PREPARED AT : Pawtucket High, Pawtucket, R. I.

OCCUPATION : Structural Draftsman.

MARRIED : Ella Virginia Adam, October 23, 1915.

ADDRESSES : (home) 33 Haverford Street, Hamden, Conn.; (business) Room 316 General Office Building, N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. Company, New Haven, Conn.

IN the summer of 1912 I started work in the detail drafting room at the Pencoyd Plant of the American Bridge Company in Philadelphia. Harry Kenney had preceded me by several weeks and was fairly well established so I joined up with him and we roomed together for a year. After three years in various parts of the steel plant I moved to New York, where I worked for a year on subway design for the Public Service Commission. At this time the war in Europe was blazing away and the International Nickel Company, the principal world producer of metallic nickel, was contemplating the erection of a refining plant in Port Colkome, Ontario. I joined their engineering department and after a few months work on the design at their Bayonne, N. J., works was transferred to Canada as the company's engineering representative during the construction of the plant, later becoming Assistant Chief Engineer. In 1922 the company built a refinery and rolling mill for monel metal at Huntington, West Virginia, and for a year I was helping out on this work, later returning to the Canadian plant.

After seven years under the Union Jack the States looked more attractive than the Dominion, even though I had become acclimated and enjoyed life there thoroughly, so when an opportunity came to join the bridge department of the New Haven Railroad I called in the auctioneer, cleaned house from cellar to attic and left for New Haven. I finally settled in Hamden, one of New Haven's suburbs, where I bought a home and seem to be almost a fixture.

In the fall of 1915 I married an old schoolmate, Ella Adam, of Pawtucket. (We have no children but eleven years ago acquired an infant nephew whose growth we have watched with interest and who we hope some day to see marching down the hill to the "Meeting House.")

ENTERED business operated by family. Business discontinued in 1935.

Enlisted as private; discharged as First Lieutenant. Made three round trips to France as Transport Quartermaster in charge of Army material on Navy ship.

Operating leased departments selling men's haberdashery, hats and shoes in 33 units in New England. After family business discontinued in 1935 was employed by a concern doing a similar business; saw that they were overlooking a large volume in the above items; sold them the idea of leasing these departments to me in six stores: idea went over fairly well, so that now we have increased to 33 units in various cities. No inventions. No writings. Have held office and been on executive committees of various organizations such as Town Criers of Rhode Island, Retail Trade Board of Providence, golf clubs, etc.

Kiwanis Club officer, etc., Past Master Redwood Lodge No. 35 of Masons.

Extensive travel from as far north as Spitzbergen to as far south as Africa; all continents except Australia.

No serious hobby; golf and fishing.

Am not in favor of the trend to paternalism in the United States. Believe the world in general is like a volcano just before eruption, but we will all be forced to adapt ourselves to changing conditions, and make the best of them. Do not believe that Communism will increase to a much greater extent; I think that it will gradually fade out of the picture.

SAMUEL LYMAN MITCHELL

SAMUEL LYMAN MITCHELL

BORN : Trinidad, Colorado, June 9, 1888. PARENTS : Reuben Mitchell, Jessie Mitchell.

PREPARED AT : High School, Trinidad, Colorado.

IN COLLEGE : 1908-1912. DEGREE : PH.B.

OCCUPATION : Instructor—Junior College, Kentfield, Cal.

MARRIED : Lenore Beals, San Francisco, California, December 23, 1932.

ADDRESSES : (home) Kentfield, California; (business) Marin Junior College, Kentfield, California.

I GOT a rather late start in my profession, having spent a number of years wandering about the United States and even Canada and Mexico. I pioneered in Montana, sold goods in Wisconsin, and worked in the oil fields of Oklahoma. Net result : a large fund of experience rather dearly bought.

During the War I spent several months in the Tacoma shipyards. Defective eyesight invalidated me for service, and I saw none of the Great Slaughter. May God preserve us from another ! I would rather see every city in the United States burn to ashes than to see us engaged again in war.

At last I took up teaching and finally settled in California. For the past six years I have been a teacher of foreign language in the Marin Junior College, just outside of San Francisco. I love students of the freshman-sophomore level and am happier in this work than in any other I have ever done.

Most of my allied activities are of a professional nature. I have been President of the Northern California Chapter of the American Association of Teachers of Spanish and have been a Director on the governing board of the local chapter of the Modern Language Association. I have published various articles in professional journals, the last being "Our Spanish Heritage in California," a radio address later printed in the Sierra Educational News. I am even the author of a textbook which I use in my own classes but in which, alas, I have been unable to interest a publisher.

I have a wife but no children. Our house faces Mt. Tamalpais (2600 feet elevation) and is situated just across the new Golden Gate Bridge from San Francisco. A California garden is a thing of beauty and a joy forever. Mine is a never-ending source of pleasure. And there are many other interests in life. Once a year I spend a pleasant evening dining with our Brown Club in San Francisco. Then there is the consumer's co-operative movement, whose social and economic possibilities I find intriguing, to which I give up part of my time. At the moment, I have just emerged from the hospital where I underwent a major operation. But that is nothing. I am still going strong and really do feel that the next twenty-five years holds more in store for me than the last.

As for the times, they are indeed critical. Just where we shall make port no one knows. Of only one thing may we be certain ; we must proceed to our unknown goal ; we cannot go back. Individually, I feel that one should keep cool and use his head and, above all, be adaptable and ready to adjust himself to whatever destiny fate may bring him. If we can just avoid war and keep the craft afloat for the next few years, time will eventually bring us to a secure harbor.

PREPARED AT : Technical High, Providence, R. I.

DIED : Providence, R. I., March 22, 1910.

FRANKLIN R. MORSE, a Brown University Sophomore and widely known in the city, especially in debating circles, died in his home at midnight, Tuesday, March 22, 1910. Death was due to a complication of diseases attendant upon a nervous breakdown with which he was afflicted shortly after Christmas. His illness was partially due to overstudy, and he had been unable to attend college for several months. He was 21 years old. He was a prominent member of the Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity and also a member of the local club of Knights of Delta Phi. Through his connection with the latter he had become widely known in debating circles, although he had never represented his college in the inter-college debates. He is the son of Rodolph and Amie Morse and he was born in this city, where he had always lived. He was a graduate of the Broad Street Grammar and the Technical High School.

WALTER CHADWICK NELSON

I LIKED Brown pretty much, so after graduation I stuck around for a Ph.D. degree in bacteriology which took five years, as I felt I just had to assist Doc. Chapin and "Fritz" Gorham keep the milk supply of Providence in order. After that what to do!

I enlisted as a gob in the Navy—then was commissioned a First Lieutenant in the Army and eventually landed in France for 11 months. Had charge of the water supply of the 81st Division and was in the Meuse-Argonne offensive.

I married before I took the ocean trip just mentioned.

Since then I have had a very interesting time of it. I am far from being rich—in 60-cent dollars—but directing laboratories in Tennessee, Georgia, Missouri and Maine, placed me in geographical foci from which I could travel and see things. In the South I saw that damnyankee was one word. In the Middle West I did what they did, which is to pack yourself into a car and see Yellowstone or bust. My wife, my mother and myself did just that and for twenty-eight days toured the Rockies. I might say I'd like to do it again. Which reminds me that if I have any conscious hobby it is to read or travel. And while it's nice to contemplate that you will travel when you get a lot of money or in your old age I can't help but think I might get stung if I wait, so I travel now whenever I get the chance. And it's interesting how often the little trips complement the reading you do. Benedict Arnold in his memoirs mentioned Father Râle's monument on the Kennebec and like Ed. Winn I pipe up and say "We've seen that." Kenneth Roberts describes Arnold's expedition to Quebec in "Aundel" and you read it just after a trip to Quebec up that same Kennebec, or he describes Burgoyne's expedition and you visualize your visit to Crown Point and Ticonderoga and are glad that you saw Saratoga Battlefield.

Directing the State Laboratory at Augusta, Maine, placed me near my old Brown room-mate of three years—Francis O'Connor—and the renewal of our friendship and the continuance of it since is one of the bright spots of my life. They don't make them finer than Francis.

When I got my Ph.D. I thought I was finally and completely equipped for a job but my experience of ten years impressed on me that I needed an M.D. degree, so I entered Albany Medical College at the age of 37 and graduated at 41 and then interned for a year. For the past five years I have practiced medicine and am still at it.

ADDRESSES : (home) 153 Clark Street, Portland, Maine; (business) 85 Exchange Street, Portland, Maine.

AFTER graduation, I worked for a year or so for the Maine Central Railroad. It was quite the custom in the Portland of my day for one who didn't know just what else to do to work for that corporation. It was not long, however, before I thought I wanted to go back to the books. In the spring 1914 I went to Washington, D. C., and became an employee of the Internal Revenue Bureau of the Treasury. The following fall I enrolled in the law school of Georgetown University. For three years I helped in a humble way to levy taxes on the "economic royalists" and courted "The Jealous Mistress Law" in the evening. In due time I got a law degree. Just as I was thinking of returning to my beloved Maine, the United States entered the war. I was found not fit to fight and placed in the "limited service class" from which I was never called before the end of the war. Through the war years I remained in the Treasury and resigned in May, 1919. I returned to Portland, the city of my birth, passed the bar and started to practice law. I have ever since been an unimportant, small-town lawyer; but it has been compensatory for my lack of greatness that I have been able to live in my native city, to me the loveliest on earth. And so thought Mr. Longfellow, another son, when he wrote his nostalgic "My Lost Youth."

It is the truth that I haven't done a single notable thing. I have never traveled farther than what I have said indicates. I belong to no organization except the local Brown Club. My leisure is chiefly spent in reading. In the summer I spend every moment I can out of doors on one of the islands of Casco Bay where I have been going since I was a kid. There I swim and fish and loaf.

As for the present trend of events in the United States, I have every confidence in the old republic. A hundred years ago a stubborn fellow named Jackson was just finishing his two terms in the White House and the welkin rang with speeches proclaiming the end of democracy and the rise of tyranny. But look what happened. I still have confidence. I loath leviathan states, communist or fascist, and want to see America stick to democracy. If the people of all classes want it so, so it will be. It is up to them.

I am not a politician. Nothing I learned at Brown or Georgetown served to swerve me from the family faith. I am enrolled as a Democrat. In the years between the election of Harding and the rise of Roosevelt, I even ran on Democratic tickets for every office from fence-viewer to county attorney, not with any hope of being elected (for Democrats were not elected in Maine very often) but in order to fill spaces on hopeless tickets which no one else would fill. Since the Roosevelt reign, there have been lots of people willing to run on a Democratic ticket in Maine, so I have not had to fill any gaps. That is the extent of my public service.

If I have not gathered laurels myself, I have watched with pleasure and interest the laurels gathered in various fields by a number of those who were with me on the Hill between 1908 and 1912, and it is my heartiest wish that they and 1912 go on to even greater glory.

STARTED my business career as a Student Engineer for the Western Electric Co. in Chicago. At the end of a year I was transferred to the Research Department at New York and worked on telephone repeater circuits. Helped build, assemble and test the ones used in the first transcontinental telephone circuits. Shifted to the Circuit Laboratory in 1916 and in 1917 left the company to work for the New York Central R. R. as an Electrical Draftsman.

I stayed there about 18 months and got an urge to see the West. Stayed in and around Seattle until February, 1922, working for the City of Seattle as Electrical and Railway Draftsman, Marine Electrical Draftsman for Todd Drydock Co. in Tacoma and Assistant to Superintendent of Plant of Puget Sound Telephone Co. in Everett.

I came back East in February, 1922, as Line Department Engineer for the United Electric Railways Co. in Providence, was made Assistant Line Department Supervisor in 1926, Supervisor in 1931 and Superintendent of Lines in 1937. Specialized in Trackless Trolley work since 1934 and built the first installation in New England in 1931.

I was married September, 1914, and have three children, a girl at Randolph-Macon and two boys in Pawtucket High School.

I am a member of the Pawtucket, R. I., Lions Club, Bristol Lodge F. & A. M. and Rabboni R. A. Chapter of North Attleboro, Mass., New England Transit Club, American Transit Association (been chairman of several engineering committees), American Institute of Electrical Engineers, and have written several papers on Trackless Trolley overhead construction.

I manage to raise a few vegetables every Spring by keeping close watch on cut worms and other bugs and have recently taken up golf but I do not brag about my score.

ADDRESSES: (home) 180 Lincoln Avenue, Elizabeth, N. J.; (business) Standard Oil Development Company, Elizabeth, N. J.

THE first years out of college were spent in academic halls both as teacher and student. After one year teaching at Worcester Polytechnic Institute, I spent a year at M. I. T., where I became associated with Professor C. A. Kraus (Professor of Chemistry, Brown University, 1924—). This association with Kraus has followed through my professional career, first going with him to Clark University, where I received a Doctor's degree and later building and operating the first lead tetraethyl plant operated by his process. After receiving the Doctor's degree it looked as though I would settle down to be a college professor for the rest of my life, and a good start was made with an instructorship at the University of Minnesota.

On December 12, 1917, I married Mary A. Pinkham of Fort Kent and Portland, Maine.

With our entry into the War, I first undertook chemical work on the development of new war gases, but in 1918 I joined the forces and spent nearly a year on the other side in Chemical Warfare Service, returning December 23, 1918, as First Lieutenant. My war work was mainly technical in nature, being attached most of the time to the Chemical Warfare Service proving grounds at Chaumont (G. H. Q., France).

After the War I took up industrial research and after about three years with Roessler & Hasslacher Chemical Company I joined the Standard Oil Company, N. J., with whom I have been for the past 15 years.

My duties with Standard, although varied, have mainly been along technical lines and I have had the opportunity to take out some 20 odd patents on inventions. The old Navy slogan is paraphrased in these parts (to say "Join Standard and see the world"). My business activities have taken me over a good part of the United States, civilized parts of Canada, oil fields of Mexico and a three-year sojourn in Europe. The European trip was shared with my family and has been a most interesting experience for all of us. We settled in Germany at the time Hitler took power and were eye-witnesses to many of the important changes and developments which have occurred in that country. Travelled extensively in most of the countries of Western Europe and had numerous occasions to meet our classmates R. A. Andrews (now deceased) and Harry Seidel.

A recent return to the United States after living in Germany and England leads one to believe that we are getting off very easily with this New Deal. Certainly people of our economic status get off very easily on taxation and so forth in this country compared with any of the leading European countries.

EDWARD BATES PECK

I certainly have no fear of Communism invading this country but I can't help but wonder if we are to have the same degree of government paternalism that exists in most European countries.

I have taken modest interest in community affairs when absence from the country did not interfere. For four years I led a men's Bible Class in the First Presbyterian Church of Elizabeth, belonged to the Kiwanis Club of Elizabeth, N. J., and did yeoman service on various committees and drives.

In my leisure time I am a dab in a variety of sports. In Germany I learned to ski in 1934 and in England I took up golf in 1935. These are my outdoor sports which give me year-round fun.

I got the candid camera craze in Germany.

ATTENDED Harvard Graduate School of Arts and Sciences for one year, specializing in music, with the idea that I might prepare myself for a place in the Music Department of some University. Before the end of that year, I decided that was not what I wanted to do, so went to work for Phillips Insulated Wire Co. in Pawtucket. There I formed a deep and lasting friendship with Chester M. Aldrich, who was Superintendent of the rubber wire mill, and we decided we should be in business for ourselves.

Not knowing the tremendous difficulties of starting a new plant (particularly with no money), we rashly went out in 1916 and started the Braided Fabric Co. in Providence, manufacturing flat elastic braids. We are still struggling along, and extend our sympathy to any other classmates who may be in the textile business.

In 1932, we put in some power sewing machines, and in our Novelty Division manufacture fabric handbags, knitting and shopping bags, and bathing bags. (Wholesale prices and confidential discounts on request.)

For the past twenty years, for recreation and so that I would not entirely forget how to play the piano, have been accompanist of the University Glee Club of Providence and during that time served several years on the Board of Directors and as President. At the close of the last season in April, they made me an Honorary Life Member.

Am a member of all the Masonic bodies through the 32nd Degree, including Commandery and Shrine, but never was active as an officer. Incidentally, my business associate, C. M. Aldrich, is the present Grand Master of Masons of Rhode Island.

Served several years as member of Executive Committee of Brown Club of Providence.

For sports I turned to golf years ago and have been quite active at Metacomet Golf Club as a member of the Board of Governors and Chairman of the House Committee (a thankless task as many of you probably know). Play the average business man's game, but I will tell you at length about the season I was always in the low eighties and describe in detail my hole-in-one anytime I can get an audience of one or more to listen. For sitting down exercise, contract bridge.

Throughout the twenty-five years, it has always been a treat to run into some classmate or fellow Brown man in business or pleasure, and it is amazing how many times two of us have been surprised when I have come out of my office to tell some salesman that I am not in the market for yarns or some collector that I will try to pay something next week, and found a fellow classmate who did not expect to see me.

OCCUPATION : Episcopal Priest.

ADDRESS : 520 Woodland Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

ITHINK only famous people should write autobiographies and I am not famous. But here is my attempt. Perhaps it may help to bring me fame. In Freshman English we had to write our life-history and I tried to be so modest and told so much about a pet donkey I had as a youngster that the instructor wrote on the cover, "I am not sure whether this is your autobiography or the biography of a jack-ass."

After I left Brown I went to the General Theological Seminary in New York City where I studied for the priesthood of the Episcopal Church. Fritz Burgess was there with me. After I was ordained I had charge of a mission in Portsmouth, R. I., and later went as curate at St. John's, Newport. I could not get in the Navy as a chaplain because of the condition of my eyes, but I gave my services at the Naval Hospital where they were kind enough to tell me they considered me a member of the staff.

Then for five years I had a parish in Spotswood, N. J. From here I went to the Church of the Transfiguration in New York City. This is the famous Little Church Around the Corner. As I had been brought up among theatrical people I was immediately given special work for a time in the Episcopal Actor's Guild and I became a regular back-stage Johnnie, visiting actors in their dressing rooms, at their homes, helping them in difficulties, and doing all the regular work of a chaplain of such an organization. And believe me, they are the finest people on earth to work with. And of course there were marriages galore. During my four years of service there I married over 3,400 couples. The rector thinks I married every crook and criminal in the city in that time. Every time anything went wrong with a marriage (such as bigamy, husbands turning out to be torch-murderers, etc.) I proved to be the one who performed the ceremony. However, the license bureau was to blame, not I, so I am not really a dangerous character or in the league with the underworld. I will not mention the famous people I baptized, married, or buried, for it would be too long a catalog, even though it be my only claim to fame.

When I could not stand that strain any longer I took this parish in Plainfield, carefully looking up first to see how many marriages they had a year. I was longing for heaven where there is no marrying or giving in marriage, and when I learned there had been but one wedding the previous year, I thought it was as near heaven as I ever should get. And here I am.

That seems to be all my history. I have managed to do a little with the piano, had a few trips abroad, and generally try to be normal.

MY first job was with the Monatiquot Rubber Works, South Braintree, Mass., makers of reclaimed rubber. Worked here till 1918 as chemist and salesman. When the War got hot enlisted in the U. S. FREDERICK GEORGE RAWLINGS

TWENTY-FIVE years out, in the bifocal age and a long way from being a millionaire, I am still going strong and getting a kick out of a goodly portion of the better things of life in spite of some pretty rough bumps.

The old spirit of Brown, play fair and do or die, is still alive in me and I am very grateful to be able to be called a son of Brown.

The first years out were spent with the American Locomotive Company. Power plant work with the Atlas Powder, DuPont and U. S. Rubber followed and I am now a supervising engineer with Hood Rubber in Watertown.

I have been married twice. My first wife died within two years but left a baby girl to compensate for a very bad jolt. A second marriage, six years later, rounded out the family with a son.

My youthful desire to be a doctor is being somewhat fulfilled through Betty, my daughter, who likes to chase germs and is studying to be a clinical technician.

I haven't any real hobby but I like everything and everyone, even those long, sleek Dachshund dogs, one of which I am a proud owner.

Here is wishing the best of luck for Brown and 1912 and who knows but my son, who is a real Brown booster, may carry the pigskin to victory in 1942.

BORN : Moriah, Essex County, N. Y., May 25, 1885. PARENTS : Rev. Henry Clark Robbins, A.M. and Caroline A. (Wolcott) Robbins.

PREPARED AT : Ballston High School, Ballston Spa, N. Y.

IN COLLEGE : 1908-1912.

OCCUPATION : With General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

MARRIED : Edith Shaw Campbell, Schenectady, N. Y., June 15, 1915.

CHILDREN : William Campbell, May 22, 1916; Jane Wolcott, August 31, 1926.

FAMILY MEMBER OF BROWN : Harry Wolcott Robbins, 1908.

ADDRESSES : (home) 1086 Park Avenue, Schenectady, N. Y.; (business) General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

THE short and simple annals are as follows: After departing from the kindly protection and shade of those time-honored halls I devoted the next few years to partnership in a business venture, with some success. Then followed in rather rapid succession: marriage to the girl of my dreams (Yes, fellows, the very same one), responsibilities, cares and compensations, a job with the American Locomotive Company, and a family.

Throughout the World War period I was occupied in expediting the production and shipment abroad of steam locomotives and other railway equipment to the A. E. F. and the Allied armies, working for the A. L. Co., an essential war industry.

In 1921 a position with the General Electric Co. took me into the maelstrom of that big organization, with which I have been connected up to the present time, in various positions and with varying success. Like many another average individual, I accumulated a little during the boom years—and lost it during the depression.

Home and family have absorbed their share of time and attention. One wife, one boy and one girl, is the score. The children are now very astonishingly growing up (I just can't realize a fellow member of the class being a grandfather!). To "send them with love and with deep veneration, as pilgrims devout, to the shrine of old Brown" has been one of my fondest wishes. The girl may land at Pembroke yet. A matter of keen regret is that his uncertain health made it advisable for the boy to enter the home town college instead of going away to Brown ; so he is getting his A.B. at Union College next year.

Leisure time activities, outside of vacation trips, are largely devoted to books and reading and to gardening. Other hobbies are camping, hiking and mountain climbing. Outdoor life's ardent advocate—still I don't hunt, fish or play golf, nor go in so very strongly for skiing and winter sports.

Memberships in societies is a fair index to interests. They are in the Schenectady Floriculture Society, the Schenectady County Historical Society, the New York Historical Society, the Schenectady Archaeological Society, and also the Brown Alumni Club of Albany, Troy and Schenectady. I attend the Union Presbyterian Church, and belong to the Lambda Chi Alpha Fraternity, in which I have served as alumni officer for the Union Chapter and also as an officer of the local alumni association. In politics I am an independent and progressive Republican, approving of much in the broader objectives of the New Deal, but taking exception to many of its policies and practices. I believe that we have more cause to worry about the advance of Fascist dictatorship than about Communism.

I hope to live to see great football teams again at BROWN.

WILLIAM HENDERSON ROBERTSON

HERE is the record of a man who has a valid claim to a place in one history only—the record of vital statistics in the place of his birth.

After graduation I spent a time in Chicago, doing a bit of magazine writing and serving various companies in the matter of parcel post regulations, rates and rulings. I left Chicago the morning after the Lusitania disaster—that last night spent with my intimates, all good Germans and fine fellows who were cheered by those first false reports that all passengers had been saved. I have often wondered what they said to each other the next evening. I came East to organize our present corporation in company with my father and brother. I was company Treasurer from 1916 to 1932. In 1932 I succeeded my father as President and am still holding the job. I am not mentioning the corporation because we confine our advertising to one certain trade paper. Physical disability kept me out of the war but did not prevent me from marrying in 1919. Beatrice Mary Smith was the name, if you please. As time has passed, three children have come along to keep us busy and happy: Charles Noble 3rd in 1920. Mary Beatrice in 1922. Virginia in 1923. As some may recall, business was fairly awake, toward the end of the 1920's and so I spent two years beginning in 1927 under George Pierce Baker at Yale—47 Workshop and all that. As for memberships, I am a very poor joiner, but in spite of this disinclination, I have been a member of the Litchfield County University Club, the Brown Club of New York, National Association of Cotton Manufacturers, National Association of Finishers of Textile Fabrics, etc. Also, I am a trustee of the local hospital. I am a Mason and devote most of my giving to certain boys clubs of New York's lower East Side. My leisure is spent in reading and writing and sailing (my son and I, by the Grace of God, took third prize in the First Handicap Division last summer). As for the present trend of events in this country and in the world at large, for the greater part I am impressed by the loss of old moral standards and a softening of the will for understanding and hard intelligent thinking. Today's motto seems to be "Let's try the thing first and think about it afterward; but for God's sake, let's never think a thing through!" But I am not discouraged; we shall again have mature leaders in this world who will know that blustering and simpering are just not enough.

FOR a year or two after College days were over I tried different kinds of business until I settled down in Canada selling meat for Swift & Company. This proved to be a fascinating game and I moved all over Eastern Canada until I was finally appointed District Sales Manager for the Ontario Division of Swift Canadian Co. Recently I was asked to come back to the land of my birth and for the present am Manager of Swift & Company at Lowell, Mass.

During my stay of over twenty years in Canada I acquired a British wife and raised a family of three, two boys and a girl, all of whom are very much Canadian in their views, although if we stay here long enough I may be able to convert them.

No outstanding accomplishments and not much activity outside of my business connections. I was one of the few who thought Roosevelt did not have a chance to be re-elected and am in the great majority who now feel he should not have been.

Look forward to the Alumni Monthly and like to follow events on College Hill, especially the news of 1912.

SHORTLY after leaving Brown I was married. That Fall I obtained employment in the Standardizing and Testing Department of the Boston Edison Co. In the Spring I was fired; the first and only time. However, as the work was very dangerous, I was not sorry. The next Fall I taught a Grammar School in Newport, N. H. The following year my wife and I went to Porto Rico, where I served as principal of the High School in the city of Guayama and my wife was one of my assistants. The work was very pleasant and interesting but we were frightened away the following June by an outbreak of the Bubonic plague. A daughter was born to us the next February. I then spent a short time on an apple ranch in Washington in the Wenatchee Valley District, where I was employed as a picker and packer of apples. I was not particularly interested in this work but it afforded a change and I saw a good deal of the country. In 1914-15-16 I was Principal of the High School in Union, Maine.

Teaching seemed to be the work for which I was best fitted but failing eyesight due to traumatic cataracts forced me to give this up. I then took up a different line of work in the hope of delaying blindness. I worked in the assembling room of the Draper Corporation in Hopedale, where I worked for about two years assembling parts of textile machinery. After this I was employed by Willet, Sears & Co. of Boston, where I served as Superintendent of their light, heat and power department. I remained with them until 1920 when I was forced by my poor eyesight to give up. In the meantime, my wife had graduated from Tuft's Medical School and was starting in the practice of medicine. She now became the main support of the family as I was almost completely blind. A second daughter was born in 1923.

Realizing that I must remodel my life I took up the study of Law at Northeastern University and by means of the Braille system and readers, many of whom were volunteers, I received my LL.B. and was admitted to the Massachusetts Bar in 1928. In spite of my handicap, I did fairly well in the practice of law from the very start and until the depression caught up with us about 1932. However, in September, 1933 I was blessed by having my sight permanently restored through an operation. This of course was the greatest gift I could have. No amount of money could equal it. I continued in my profession and now I am employed in Harvard University, Department of Criminology.

My oldest daughter is a graduate of Northeastern Law School and is now a Sophomore at Wellesley College. My youngest is a Sophomore in the Winthrop, Mass., High School. Winthrop is the town I have lived in for the past fifteen years.

My hobby is my basement workshop in which I have a varied list of machine and woodworking tools. However, I hope to acquire a farm where I may spend the week-ends but I must have one which has a small waterfall so that I may generate my own power for light, heat and power purposes and to experiment with.

AFTER leaving college I found that getting a job was not too easy. Most of the employers to whom I applied did not seem to realize how valuable an asset they were passing up. At least I thought so. I therefore had to be content with make-shift jobs until January, 1913. At that time I became Assistant Examiner for the City of New York. That did not work out very well. Too much politics and the wrong party, so that just before Christmas I found a note in my pay envelope, "Services no longer required."

March, 1914, I was able to secure a clerkship in the New York office of the Glidden Company, with whom I am connected at the present time. During the past twenty-three years my duties have varied; Salesman, Office Manager, Credit Manager, Assistant Sales Manager and Assistant Export Manager; both of the latter positions being held by me at the present time.

At the outbreak of the war I volunteered my services and took examinations for a commission in the Engineers but was rejected because of poor eyesight. Because of my training in the paint business I became an unofficial "Dollar a year man" (which I never collected) and inspected paints used by the War Department.

Never having had an over-abundance of leisure time I did not acquire any real hobbies except the study of ballistics, for the past three years being pistol instructor of the Rockville Centre Police Department.

Sports: I like them all but the extent of my activities along these lines is just a little golf now and then.

The only extensive traveling I have done has been in a business way, the most pleasant of which was a trip to Puerto Rico last year. I am, however, looking forward to an extensive trip to South America this winter and expect to spend considerable time in each of several countries.

Politics have never interested me to any degree but I had the position of Republican Committeeman wished on me two years ago and am still in the fold despite Communism, Social Security and what have you.

AFTER four years of college and chemistry, I went to work as an ordinary hand in the dyehouse at Saylesville for $8.40 a week.

Of necessity I didn't marry until 1915.

Left Saylesville the latter part of 1918 to go to Valleyfield, Canada, as Chemist in charge of dyeing. There I learned to play bridge and completed my family of three, Gretchen, Frederick and Natalie. After six years and three months in the frozen north, my old roommate at Brown was so lonesome without me, he decided that he would like to have me with him at the Robertson Bleachery & Dye Works to live over the good old days at Brown and 81 Waterman Street. I can think of no other reason. 1925 found me in New Milford and here I am in 1937.

I am a Mason and a member of the Lion's Club. Play bridge, golf and tennis for recreation. Hobbies have I none.

I am intensely interested in both national and international events, and hope for the best.

FREDERICK WILLIAM SEAGRAVE

HAVING decided on an engineering career, with a B.S. in C.E. degree (of little value) and no place to go, I took the first job offered in 1912. After six months all I could say was "I've been working on the railroad,"—the ill fated Grand Trunk at Palmer, Mass. The only reward was a railroad pass that gave me an opportunity to leave New England and see some of Canada and the United States as far west as Chicago. I might still be there except for the urge to spend the Xmas holidays with my family back in Rhode Island. The desire to travel then led me to New York and for 25 years, almost to a day, here I am. I have been up and down, in and out, by auto and rail through most of the states east of the Mississippi and some beyond, Florida and California excepted. The first five years was straight engineering work with George F. Handy, Construction Engineer, and the West Virginia Pulp & Paper Co., covering civil, mechanical and chemical, both in office and field.

Then anxious to get into service in the World War, I was turned down because of eyesight. But my engineering experience proved useful to the U. S. in the design and construction of munition plants. Called in the draft meanwhile, they refused to take me away from more valuable work in civilian clothes. So I did not see service here or abroad.

With few opportunities for engineers following the War, I turned to the business field, with ten years following, in manufacturing and merchandising equipment. Three years with Algonquin Elec. Mfg. Corp., manufacture and sale of automobile electric equipment. Three years in business with partner selling and installing heating specialties. Two years with the Studebaker Corp. as special sales representatives. Two years with C. M. Regan, Inc., sales engineers and sales counsellors. The depression ended this.

I have spent the last eight years in heating and air conditioning, having managed branch offices for Gar Wood, General Electric, and Holland Furnace Co. Am now located in White Plains, N. Y., with the Applied Heat Corp., Westchester County distributors for Herman Nelson heating and air conditioning equipment, in business with a couple of former associates. My main job is to show architects how to design houses that can be built without tearing them down and apart to install. A. C. Such is the diversified experience of a classmate that chose engineering for a career.

Have had no serious interests outside of business. I belong to the Brown Club of N. Y. and the Brown Engineering Association, but have taken no active part in either. Politics disgust, rather than interest me. Coming from a long line of New England Republicans, I lean toward them, but might be called independent. I am entirely out of sympathy with the New Deal, and opposed to government meddling with business. My business is dependent on new house construction, which will boom in 1938 without Federal Housing Acts, if the public can have a little confidence instilled in them.

Have always taken a lot of interest in all kinds of athletic events, and usually turn to the sporting page in the daily paper after glancing at the front page headlines. I do considerable reading, and stick to bridge for indoor pastime. Play some golf, but am not a real enthusiast. Am interested in art and antiques. With furniture inherited from 300 year old New England families during the past year, it appears that I will probably be repairing and selling antiques for years to come. I like to travel and "go places." A train ride is a real treat after using a car for business for years, but if you want to see things, travel by auto, and forget the trailer. The better class tourist houses offer better accommodations. Don't mistake me, I've never owned one, but spent too much energy dodging them on the road on my last trip South.

After 25 years of bachelorhood, I am glad to report that I am happily married. This occurred in March, 1937.

NOT having graduated with the class I feel more or less an intruder in this book but I am greatly pleased to be here. As to what I've done, what's happened to me and what sort of chap I've turned out to be, I haven't a great deal to boast about but I've lived a lot, learned a lot and enjoyed myself doing it.

The quest for my niche in the world led me through many vicissitudes and by trails and into fields that I had not dreamed of in my student days. January 1910 brought the first major crisis to my life in the death of my father. He was a much loved Unitarian minister in Providence and under the influence of a highly emotional stress the wide-spread expressions of appreciation of his life and of sorrow at his death made a profound impression upon me. I decided to enter the ministry.

In 1914 I graduated from the Meadville Theological School, Meadville, Pa. My interest in the Church was not so much in the need for the teaching of personal righteousness as in the influence which the Church might exert for social improvement. In September 1914 I entered upon the active work of the ministry with the congregation of a Unitarian Church in New Jersey. Those were the turbulent days of the World War. I found most of the members of my congregation unusually congenial in their attitude toward the Church and social questions and was making good progress until I began to preach Pacifism, to which my religious convictions as well as my social outlook led me as the only possible Christian answer to war. What I regard as the betrayal of Christ by the Christian Church during the World War is history. Disillusioned and embittered I left the ministry in 1919 and have never recovered sufficient faith in the Church as an instrument of social regeneration to return to it.

For various reasons I elected to try to make a place for myself in the commercial world rather than in teaching or social work. The various things I attempted are not of particular interest; suffice it to recount that they embraced selling business educational service, selling products of industry, manufacturing in a small way and personnel work. In 1925 I became an employee of the Title Guarantee Company of Rhode Island and in the work and associations of this highly specialized and professional business of real estate title insurance I am probably as happily situated as I could expect to be in the commercial world.

Soon after graduating from theological school I married happily and a year later was chanting the boasting father's praises of a son who is now successfully upholding the family name at our Alma Mater. A second son will graduate next June from Rhode Island State College. Our daughter is in her junior year at the Rhode Island School of Design. We are proud of our children; and to see them emerging into the ambitious ideals of a splendid manhood and womanhood brings a happiness and contentment with life that nothing else could bring.

In spite of my experience in the ministry I am more or less actively connected with church work, both as a layman and occasionally as a preacher. For several years I have been associated with Boy Scout work. My hobbies are gardening during the spring and summer and reading and studying during the fall and winter.

I think this twenty-five-year class book is an excellent idea and it would be most interesting if we could get out another one twenty-five years from now.

PARAPHRASING Horace Greeley I came East and finally reached Providence, Rhode Island, in time to enter Classical High School in the Class of 1908.

Because of the death of my father in 1910, I was forced to leave Brown. From 1910 to 1913 I studied law in the offices of Waterman and Greenlaw at Providence, and in May 1913, was admitted to the Rhode Island Bar. After ten years of private practice I became associated with Title Guarantee Company of Rhode Island, first as Manager of the Pawtucket Office and then as Assistant Secretary at the Home Office in Providence, where I am now located.

On June 30, 1914, I married Lila I. Horton, and in the same year established my residence in Rumford, Rhode Island, where my wife and I still reside. We have no children.

In 1925 we purchased my wife's girlhood home, The Old Brewster House (built in 1690), at Kingston, Massachusetts, and my principal hobby since then has been in sharing my wife's keen interest in antiques. I do a little gardening, am a fair contract player and like to putter around with carpenters' tools.

I have never held public office although I tried to, back in 1916 to 1922, when it took moral courage to be a Democrat in Rhode Island.

MY FIRST six years out were spent in telephone construction and engineering at New York. When I left there were neither mourning nor "razzberries" in evidence. The world just paid no attention at all.

This period was followed by two years at Industrial Engineering in a metal products plant, three years at Cost and Production Control system installation as a Supervising Senior with public accountants, two years as a General Manager of a business manufacturing plushes and pile fabric novelties and finally eleven years as President and half-owner of a business doing the same thing.

Fortunately, the prosperity of 1926-1929 gave us the working capital to carry through the depression and safely out on the other side.

Now we wonder what next. The other day my partner overheard some C. I. O. agitators in a local gin mill saying they were going to pull our plant last in the community where it is located. That was so reassuring!

As to avocations and hobbies, I have found it easy to believe with Bob Forster, Brown '03, that "every man should be so interested in something worth while outside of business that he can hardly wait to get home and at it."

I have taken seriously, at various times, tennis, golf, music, stamp collecting, ship model building and philosophical reading, with a liberal dash of current fiction to carry through the periods of greatest stress. My navy numbers nine ships in various stages of completion, from a twenty-two inch model of a square topsail sloop of Revolutionary times, through slaver schooners, the Constitution, a California clipper, five master cargo schooner, up to Morgan's steam yacht. All of these will sail some day, some do already. The largest is about 60 inches long.

My lady and I like dancing and pretty nearly hate cards.

The family's health (four of us) seems to be the best in years. We licked hay fever without drugs or injections and each of us has all his organs. We are not bothered by colds, headaches and other symptoms indicative of something wrong inside and the old blood pressure is one-twenty over eighty.

The above is mentioned in lieu of public honors, scholarly attainments and distinguished memberships of which I can claim none.

For the future, I hope to live an awful long time, to write a successful book, to acquire a small sprawly house on a wooded plot with a lawn that slopes down to water in front, to have a small boat on that water and the leisure and health to enjoy all the possibilities of such a situation.

SUFFICE it to say that two years as Rodman on a bridge construction job didn't improve my academic memory. I never caught up with the German language.

my special attention. It was hard work in those days, Sundays and holidays included, war days too—no time for golf to be sure. The business was outgrowing its location and was moved to a new location while still operating, which fact took a large amount of engineering while most of the good labor was engaged in war work. In 1926 an offer from a large Boston concern was accepted and it proved to be a good time to sell, for I think we all know about the big depression in business.

Remaining with the new concern for a few months I resigned, little knowing how near my health was to the breaking point. The next five years or more were spent in California, Arizona and New Mexico trying to get back to normal. The west is a glorious place, but New England appealed to me most.

Golf has claimed my interest of late, I having been bitten by the bug in New Mexico. Radio and photography are also included as hobbies.

He won his Sc.M. at Brown in biology, and after several months of special study under the late Professor Frederick P. Gorham '93 became bacteriologist at Providence City Hospital in 1914. He entered Harvard Medical School in 1916, but his studies were interrupted by the World War, and he did not take his M.D. degree until 1922. He was later instructor at Harvard Medical School in bacteriology and immunology. In May, 1924, he became pathologist at Charles V. Chapin Hospital, where he remained until his death. I IMAGINE I am one of the few members of the class, graduated as Engineers, who has stuck to engineering through these 25 years for better or for worse. During the last few years that latter element has predominated as far as I am concerned. I have, however, enjoyed the work on the whole and if I were choosing a profession again, I imagine I would choose the same one. Although like most engineers I have wandered about considerably, the major part of the time since graduation has been spent with one or another of the affiliated companies of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey.

For the last twenty years or more I have been connected with the Boy Scout movement, most of the time as Scoutmaster. I am at present trying to ease myself out of the work but with indifferent success. I am also actively associated with the work of religious education in the local church and in the state organization. Both of these associations with young people have provided many rich experiences.

I have no leisure time problem, except the problem of finding the leisure time. When I do come across some, it is largely spent in my garden or in trying to knock a small ball into a little hole.

My son Robert entered Brown in the fall of 1936 and from recent reports has satisfactorily completed his first year's work. Doris enters High School in September. Perhaps she will go to Pembroke—and perhaps not.

AS an Engineer dealing in figures rather than an accomplished student of English, any biography that may be written outlining my activities since 1912 may be but commonplace, but here goes.

The summer after graduation was spent in my old home town recuperating from that attack of measles which nearly floored me just before final exams.

In the fall of 1912 my first real pay job was with the McKinnon Construction Company, then engaged in building reinforced concrete bridge in Woonsocket, R. I.

At the completion of this work, I found my way like many former embryo engineers to the Engineering Department of the N. Y., N. H. & H. Railroad in Providence.

In the summer of 1913 I moved my trunk to Farnham, Quebec, where I held forth as Transitman with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. This was a most enjoyable sojourn on friendly foreign soil and continued to support my wife and me until the winter of 1915. At that time C. P. R. suspended many of its engineering office and I returned to my own country.

In April 1916 I went to work for a large textile concern and have found work so enjoyable that after twenty years I still find myself with the Glenlyon Print Works.

Spare time is largely taken up with civic and fraternal activities. Am at the present time High Priest of Gibbs Royal Arch Chapter and "Dad" of the Order of De Molay. Am at the present time President of the East Providence Business Men's Association, Vice-President of the District Nurse Association, Past President of the Craftsman's Club and for the past six years President of the East Providence Town Council.

I have always been interested in politics and have actively worked for the fortunes of the Republican party. Glad to say that East Providence still remains true to the G. O. P.

from September, 1908 to May, 1909. On his return to Poughkeepsie he enrolled at Eastman Business College, took special business courses and then went to work in the shops of F. I. A. T. motor car manufacturers. After spending two years with the company he formed a partnership with his cousin, Frank Spaulding, to sell and repair motor cars. WRITING autobiographies not being “up my street,” I hesitate to give even a brief sketch of my very commonplace, but none the less happy, career since graduation.

Lucky enough to catch a job even before graduation, I worked at the printers’ trade for four years, with the high sounding title of Assistant General Manager, and with the duties of a glorified office boy.

Having married in 1913, following up with a baby girl in 1914 (eleven full months after the wedding) and having gone into another business in 1916, which business later manufactured war supplies, I was not fortunate (unfortunate) (take your pick) to qualify for our dear government’s gratuity in the shape of a bonus—so my war record just isn’t.

Well, I plugged along in business; the company grew and made some money and finally in those roaring “twenties” they thought I had matured sufficiently to head up the outfit.

In 1929 we hooked up with several other “independents” in our line of business and went in with Anaconda to form the Anaconda Wire & Cable Co., where I have been ever since in the capacity of Vice-President in charge of sales (please favor this company with your wire and cable business. ADV.)

So there you are for business. Oh, I could mention association activities and the like but who is interested in that?

As to exercise and the like, I helped Big Robbie coach for a few years, and also Tuss McLaughry, but that was the extent of my football activity. I now have declined to the old man’s game of golf, which I “play at” poorly and spasmodically. New York is not conducive to golf playing.

Outside of that, for a grandfather of one year and a father of a half a year, I feel pretty good physically. I still have my hair and it’s still its original color. I weigh less than I did in college—could anyone ask for more? I guess it’s the simple life I lead.

HERBERT WINES STANLEY

IT is my sincere hope that the author of my obituary will have more to report than I can seem to find worthy of inclusion in this quarter century record. The only real accomplishment that I can feel proud of is the fact that I have bucked the tide for twenty-five years and have arrived at that station free of debt and with some expectation of adding at least a few more years. My chief ambition is still unattained; a bald head and a rotund abdomen. Some gray hairs and a cantankerous disposition are some consolation, these having been acquired as follows:

On graduation I joined the army of Swift & Co. employees, to the disgust of a kid brother who remarked, "I didn't know it was necessary to graduate from college to become a butcher." After four years of slaughtering, during which I acquired a smattering of the ways of corporate beings, I agreed with him and switched my kingdom. I continued to grind, but instead of producing sausage from the animal, I ground wood from the vegetable kingdom and made it into paper. For about twenty years this grinding was conducted from a managerial station. I don't know why, but my greatest satisfaction came during the depression when I felt that I was helping to keep body and soul together for a thousand or more unfortunates whose struggle was more successful than my company's.

Two years ago I transferred by activities from the rigors of the New England mountains to western North Carolina, a land of beauty and climatic perfection which many of my classmates should schedule on their vacation itinerary. I still stayed in the paper industry but concentrated on problems of human relations, which had been brought to the fore by N. R. A., F. D. R., C. I. O., J. L. L., and other products of the passing years. The enlightened management of my new employer, his real "place in the sun" in the industry, and the inspiration of nature at its best have brought me to such a happy state that I have erected a home for myself in "the Land of the Sky," from which only the greatest temptations are apt to lure me.

My most valuable acquisition during this journey is my wife, nee Beatrice M. Potts, Mt. Holyoke, 1915. Together we acquired a single child, Sherburn M., Yale, 1936, now a second year student in McGill Medical School. My latest distinction came in my appointment as sole judge of a fishing contest staged by a group of mill mechanics in the Cataloochee Valley of the Great Smoky Mountains, my reward being a fifty-five inch rattlesnake.

My fondest hope is that any member of 1912 who comes near Asheville will look up my address, 232 Lakeshore Drive, and bring me up to date with the activities of the more spectacular careers of my classmates, or, if more convenient, contact me at my place of business, c/o Champion Paper & Fibre Co. at Canton, N. C.

Best of luck for the balance of "the first hundred years."

FOR twenty-five years I've been wondering what a lot of you fellows were doing for a livelihood and what else that kept you fit for it. I hope you'll loosen up and talk plenty. Here goes for one:

Mine (too) have been just one damn thing after another—but not so damn bad at that. I've had a good time, paid a reasonable percentage of my bills, and am raising (with the help of a very able assistant) three fine daughters. The bald spot and the bifocals are daily more noticeable but I judge am fit to carry-on for quite some years to come if C. I. O. and the Administration don't wreck the country before enough solid Americans wake up to stop them.

In early college, and before Hardy Cross, it was expected I would be a civil engineer. I even gave it a chance for a couple of years after—New Haven Railroad, Fields Point Sea Wall, and digging mud out of New Haven Harbor with the Army Engineers.

In the meantime one of our old instructors on the Hill got me started on a business career with the American Locomotive Company making automobiles. After six months or so the business folded up. (They did even in those days.) Another of our Profs. apparently didn't think it was my fault and sent me to Sayles Finishing Plants. From 1914 to 1918 I was there learning manufacturing and becoming, more or less simultaneously, Production Manager, Husband and Father.

1918 took me to a Boston firm of Consulting Accountants and Engineers with whom I made radio apparatus for the Navy and later airplanes till the Armistice.

Until 1924 this company kept me very busy learning (and showing other people) how businesses could be made more profitable—a year in the Mohawk Valley, one in Louisville (while Joe Conzelman was there), and most of the rest in the Middle West and South.

But I like New England so I left to start the H. M. SUTTON ENGINEERS, Boston. It has been interesting. Our clients have been of all sorts from the Corner Drug Store to a $17,000,000.00 manufacturing corporation, and the problems have involved all that wide variety that must pass over the desk of every manager or business executive.

In spite of the Depression—and what has happened since—we are still in business.

As to the rest—outside business hours.

BOY, what a change twenty-five years can make. I left Brown with high ideals and started up the ladder to success. For about twenty years everything went along fairly smoothly. I took a bad jolt in 1924 but managed to keep hold of the ladder. Then came '29 and '30. Just when I thought I had a firm grip someone pulled the ladder away from the building and I went over the top and what a fall I got. I hit bottom with an awful thud. And what a time to hit bottom.

There were three or four awful lean years. And now I am right back where I was twenty-five years ago—starting all over again. And yet I am not quite where I was then. I have twenty years of valuable experience to draw on. I have a lot of very good friends and I have the responsibility of a family. And I still think that this is a pretty good old world to live in.

As soon as I graduated in 1912 I went to work for the N. Y., N. H. & H. R. R. under Jesse Brown. The only good thing about this job I was in Providence and used to see a lot of Hardy Cross (Prof.) and Harry Sutton, 1912. At the end of about six months I got a letter from Gillmette telling me of a job with McClintic Marshall Steel Co. in Pittsburgh. For a year I was in the drafting room working on the "Hell Gate" Bridge. At the end of the year I went out on construction for them. When McClintic Marshall men came back from the Panama Canal they tried to take me back in the drafting room but I had had a taste of outside work and so instead of going inside, I went to New Kensington, Pa., and took a job as assistant to the City Engineer. When winter came on there wasn't enough to do for both of us and the Engineer wanted me to take a three months' vacation with half pay, but I couldn't see it that way. I heard they were building a steel plant at Canton, Ohio, and there is where I headed. I was here until the plant was in operation. And while here I married Lelia Adams from Pittsburgh, Pa. I then jumped to Cleveland, Ohio, where I went to work for C. W. Courtney as Resident Engineer on a big development at Silver Lake. I spent four years here and in the meantime I had bought a home in Cuyahoga Falls, O. Up to this time I was jumping around from place to place wherever there was work going on. Now I decided to settle down and so when the development at Silver Lake was completed I didn't go back to Cleveland although I did have a working agreement with C. W. Courtney for many years. I took a job as assistant to the Engineer of Cuyahoga Falls. Six months later I took a Civil Service Exam and was appointed City Engineer. Two years later I gave this up to go into contracting with a local concern. Everything went fine 'til my partner went South with the money and left me "holding the bag." I spent the next four years in charge of construction for Maple Heights when this city was crazy with development. Then came 1928 and C. W. Courtney re-organized and of course I went along. I thought I was sitting pretty until the crash in '29. Even then we managed to weather the storm until '31 when real estate holdings sunk us. Then I went out for myself. The only trouble was that there wasn't any engineering being done. How lean the years were. In fact this last year is the first time since 1930 that I have done enough work to break even on.

I AM afraid my autobiography would serve no more useful purpose than to help you in completing your records. Certainly it has little interest to the person most concerned—myself. I was one of those unfortunates who had to do first in order to find out whether I wanted to continue doing that particular thing throughout my life. Thus it happened that I sampled Law School and then the business world before discovering that I properly fitted into the classroom and the library.

I took my master's degree at Harvard and then signed up with the U. S. Army Ambulance Service for duty overseas. We were assigned—my section—to the 27th French Infantry Division and were with them for almost exactly a year beginning in the fall of 1917. At that time we were detached from the French and assigned to the Second Italian Army Corps in France, remaining with them until after the Armistice. We sailed for home in April, 1919. Overseas I was awarded the Croix de Guerre, divisional citation, and the Croce al Merito di Guerra. After completing my residence requirements at Harvard I spent two years at Brown as instructor in the History Department which ended with my marriage to the then director of admissions at Pembroke College. The following year I spent in Belgium as a fellow of the C. R. B. Educational Foundation, Inc. (Commission for Relief in Belgium), in Brussels, Belgium, where I prepared my doctoral dissertation. This work I completed on my return to this country while I was teaching at Ohio Wesleyan University. I came to Russell Sage College in the fall of 1929 and have been here ever since. I held special summer fellowships from the C. R. B. Educational Foundation in 1930 and 1937. I was on leave for a semester in 1936-37 as a fellow of the Social Science Research Council.

ANDREW DANFORTH WHITE

BORN : Centerdale, R. I., June 11, 1889. PARENTS : Albert Clarke White, Anna Mary (Cooke) White.

PREPARED AT : Hope Street High, Providence, R. I.

OCCUPATION : Real Estate, Insurance, Writing.

ADDRESSES : (home) 463 West Walnut Street, Pasadena, California;
(business) 55 South Euclid Avenue, Pasadena, California.

WORKED for a year at Ostby & Barton's, then for a while with Richter Mfg. Co. After spending a winter in Bermuda on account of my mother's health, we moved to Pasadena, California, which has been my residence for the past 23 years. Spent a couple of years in Real Estate and Insurance with J. C. Brainard Co., and then opened own office, a partnership, Daniels & White.

During the war, enlisted in the Navy, went to Officers' School and got my Ensign's commission. Served on subchasers and destroyers, and then was assigned to the Bureau of Navy at North Island, San Diego, California, under Commander Winn Spencer and his wife, the now famous Duchess of Windsor, both of whom I knew very well. We spent every Wednesday and Saturday together aquaplaning and such.

On returning to Pasadena, went with Nevin Reed Co., Real Estate and Insurance, and in 1929 after Mr. Nevin's death became a partner in the Reed-White-Luce Co., which is my present position.

A bad fall in September 1936 broke my right ankle in five places and my leg in three, so in December I came East to recoup. Became interested in writing and took some courses at Columbia in Short Story Writing. Have earned some points towards a degree, and have had the luck to sell some articles to magazines.

When you inquire about travel, that is right up my alley as I have made eighteen round trips to California by rail, six through the Canal by steamer. Between times have made eight or ten odd trips to Europe and also went around the world on freighters two years ago. Have been up and down the West Coast from Canada to Canal Zone five times and have visited in Panama and gone several hundred miles into the Interior. Have also done the Pacific Coast by motor, and most of the Islands off the Coast, yachting.

Am still a bachelor, and at present am trying to decide whether to remain in the East or return to California or the Tropics. Until further notice, my home and business address is still Pasadena, California.

HOWARD CARLTON WHITE

AS I look back over the past twenty-five years I seem to conform pretty well to Mr. Average Citizen, although reaching this point without a jail record and with a balanced budget may place me in some sort of a special class.

My first three years out were spent in Canada with the Canadian Pacific Railway, and were the only years spent in strictly engineering work, after four years in preparing for such a career. In 1915 I was back in the United States taking the first step from the world of engineering to that of finance. From 1915 to 1931 I was with the Valuation Department of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, and located most of the time in Washington and Boston. In 1932 I stepped completely in the financial world with The Merchants National Bank of Boston. Work is with the Securities Analysis Department with railroads as my special field.

Was ruled out of the war as being too skinny to make a good target.

Travel? Mostly in area bounded by Canada, the Mississippi River, Gulf of Mexico and Atlantic Ocean. Travel has been limited, due to urgent call of the coast of Maine and the mountains of New Hampshire each vacation season.

Interests outside of business have included work with various boys' clubs, tennis, mountain climbing and golf. The last item is mostly for fresh air and exercise, and an occasional thrill when I happen to break 100.

How do I feel about the present trend of events in the U. S.?

If I should express my full opinion here I might lose my record of keeping out of jail. It well may be that my ideas are only a sign of approaching old age, although I am not ready to admit it in any other respect.

My political activities, like those of most average citizens, has been confined to criticizing the politicians without really doing anything about it.

DUDLEY MELLON WILCOX

DUDLEY MELLON WILCOX

BORN: New York, N. Y., March 26, 1889. PARENTS: Abner M. Wilcox, Winifred (Parsons) Wilcox.
PREPARED AT: Plainfield High School, Plainfield, N. J.
IN COLLEGE: One year.
OCCUPATION: Bankers Trust Company of New York.
MARRIED: Eleanor M. Collins, Plainfield, N. J.
FAMILY MEMBER OF BROWN: Helen Banning.
ADDRESS: (home) 1423 Watchung Avenue, Plainfield, N. J.

AS you remember, I dropped out of class after first year—nearly 30 years ago, and I doubt whether there are three dozen of the class who would remember me. In the interim I've scattered my activities to the four quarters of the continent and in the course of my travels I've met few of the class. I've run into Williamson in Kansas City, Sallee in Los Angeles, Winterich, Bronson, Joe Humphries and one or two others in N. Y. C.; but otherwise have had little if any contact with the old boys. However, I would probably recall a lot of them if I had the list of the class's roster. If I had had a list of names and addresses I might have looked up some of old classmates; for in past two years my wife and I have been on a fifty thousand mile trip covering all parts of U. S., Canada and Mexico, and we shall likely continue traveling about as I am sort of retired except that I am still a strenuous trout fisherman and play a lot of golf to keep fit.

Nothing in my career would add any special lustre to the class's record. I am happily married to the former Eleanor M. Colling of Plainfield, N. J., although we have no children. I belong to no organizations, societies or religious group, and take no interest in gutter snipe partisan politics.

Once in awhile I've mildly advocated to young fellows that Brown might be the college for them to matriculate at but if I had a son ready to enter I'd hope that he would pick a place like Princeton or Williams in preference to Brown in its city environment.

ALLEN BURNETT WILLIAMS

THE three weeks, which began graduation week, were the most eventful of my life. One week, to the day, after I graduated I married Miss Ruth Elderkin of West Barrington and Nayatt, Rhode Island, and two weeks later I started in as an apprentice with the Aluminum Company of America at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. These three events, becoming an alumnus of Brown, a married man and a member of the Aluminum Company of America family, have all been quite permanent as they have all stuck for a quarter of a century.

My nine months' training course in our mills were very pleasant, especially as I had as associates, Frank C. Barrows, Edward Warner and Ted Farnsworth, all of our class. Following six months' training in the main office I was sent to our then furthest west office, Kansas City, where I had quite a time adjusting my New England habits to the customs out there. For five years I traveled the middle west, when the war broke out.

Having been rejected for military service I devoted my entire time with the company in connection with the needs for aluminum for the quartermasters and gas mask division of the army, spending part of the time in Washington and part in Pittsburgh. Although I would not compare this work with that of the boys that got into the trenches it was the most strenuous of my life time. There were only a few of us available who knew the aluminum business and the hours and responsibility were terrific. We actually did lose out of our small group three of the fellows from overwork and nervous breakdowns.

Immediately after the war I was transferred to the St. Louis office as Local Manager, and the following year was made District Manager for the Southwest. This continued until last year, when I was transferred to Chicago to take charge of the upper half of the middle west in addition to my old southwest duties.

The second most interesting thing in my life of course is our only child, Allen, Jr., who is now nineteen years of age and is a sophomore at Brown, being located this year at 102 Hegeman Hall, having transferred from Northwestern University.

My greatest outside hobby is, as you know, music and I get a lot of self enjoyment out of the piano, accordian and several other lesser instruments.

At Brown I paid most of my way through college tutoring mathematics and came very close to making teaching my profession. However this flare for teaching and interest in younger men has had ample opportunity to express itself as part of my work is selecting young college men and their training in selling and ethics of business.

Civil Engineers of the period look back on with pleasure despite the fact that they cussed it out roundly at the time.

After a year in New York the urge for more experience led to Montreal for another year with the Dominion Bridge Co. as draftsman and estimator. After Montreal, on to Philadelphia, this time out of straight engineering and into sales with one of the pioneers in the metal window industry, David Luptons Sons Co. I spent seventeen very pleasant years with them, sixteen of which I spent in Boston as their New England District Manager. Early 1932 found them counted out by Old Man Depression.

Following a two months breathing spell, most of which I spent wobbling over a choice between a salaried job or a business of my own I chose the hard way and went into partnership with a 1914 Tufts man, Ralph W. Hill, under the firm name Wills & Hill (frequently called the "Hill Billies") Metal Building Specialties or more specifically "Metal Doors, Windows and Partitions."

All of which brings us down to 1937. The "Hill Billies" are still carrying on and making headway in spite of the fact that the building industry has not as yet reached the state of "Balanced Abundance" we read about.

ON leaving Brown I was a legacy to a stove manufacturing business and the dirty or foundry end of it has kept me occupied ever since. I have made slow progress from a work bench to a position of such authority as the present government allows an executive to exercise. I am a Mason and seem to belong to many of such other Clubs and organizations as exist in the hinterland. Have managed to play some golf without becoming a national figure in the sport. Of late, as a citizen of one of the sole remnants of the good old U. S. A., as we used to know it, I hesitate to travel far without a passport in other states that are now almost like foreign territory.

AS you will perhaps recollect, I stayed with this class just long enough to help the rest of you start the kids of 1913 along the path that we blazed for them. In the spring of 1910 I left college to return to engineering construction. Choice and necessity played about equal parts in the matter. The million dollar bridge which claimed those virgin years is still standing, a monument to Johnny Hill's pedagogy.

In June 1915 I acquired the steadying influence, personified by Dorothy Davis, a Providence, and incidentally a Pembroke girl. She is still Mrs. Harry, which is a high testimonial to her good nature and forbearance. Our first reinforcement was born in March, 1917. He preceded us to whatever hereafter there may be, in May, 1918. In the course of the years that followed we found ourselves possessed of four other small persons, Dorothy, born in Providence in June, 1919; Lincoln, born in Newton, Mass., in July, 1921; Harry Junior, born in Evanston, Illinois, in December, 1925; and Patricia, who waited to draw her cards in the game of life until June, 1935.

Most of the early years were spent in heavy engineering construction work through all the grades up to superintendent. The monuments to those years include buildings, bridges, a tunnel, several shipways and a river improvement.

The war years caught us building a shipway for the Battleship Massachusetts, a complete shipyard for the construction of destroyers, three shipways for heavy transports and a share of one of those curious army cantonments which demonstrated our unpreparedness.

These and other structures carried us from Maine to Maryland and points in between.

In 1924 I became chief engineer of the Portland Cement Association and for over eight years we called Evanston, Ill., home.

During that period I did some writing for publication, one phase of which produced a book on Concrete in Coal Mine Construction, which was used as a text book by most of the technical and mining schools in this country.

In 1928 I became vice president and general manager of a publishing house in Chicago, producing an Architectural work of great promise. It flourished until 1932 when we closed our doors amid the general wreckage of the building industry, which accompanied the depression.

At present we are serving in the ranks of the cement industry as sales engineer for the Edison Cement Corp., operating out of their Boston office.

My present vices are golf, contract bridge, a modest amount of semi-professional drinking and serving our little New England community on town committees and Boy Scout Committee work. My wife directs Parent-Teacher activities in southeastern Massachusetts, as her avocation.

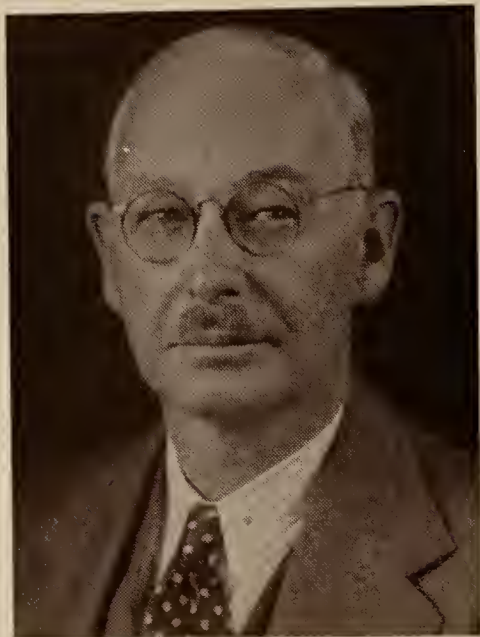

Out of all those active and interesting years I have acquired a personal knowledge and liking for more than two-thirds of the states and parts of Canada, acquired by travelling through and over them times almost without number. About one hundred thousand of those travelling miles were accomplished in the air, starting with the early days of commercial flying. I have also acquired a certain philosophy of living, which tolerates all religious beliefs but participates actively in none, a profound faith that mankind, with the aid of education, may some day become civilized, and a hope that your kids and mine may give to and take from life more than we ourselves have so given and taken. May there be few if any additional vacant chairs at our fiftieth.

RHODES WALTER ZALLEE

RHODES WALTER ZALLEE

BORN : St. Louis, Mo., February 10, 1891. PARENTS : B. W. Zallee, Sarah Zallee.

PREPARED AT : William Jewell Academy, Liberty, Mo.

OCCUPATION : Insurance Broker.

IN COLLEGE : 1908-1912. DEGREE : Ph.B.

MARRIED : Laura E. Yeomans, Boston, Mass., February 11, 1918.

ADDRESS : (home) 2868 Beachwood Drive, Los Angeles, California.

HERE goes for the history ; not much to talk about except business. After leaving college, I headed back to my point of origination, St. Louis, and went to work opening cases and filling orders in a wholesale house ; stuck with it for nearly a year and then went back East in time to get Jim Elms married in 1913. Went to work selling advertising novelties and stuck with it until the War started and that put me out of business so I contrived to get a job with the Travelers Insurance Company that kept the wolf away from the door knob.

In 1915, I landed back in Providence in the Travelers Office and stuck around there in the insurance business until coming to California in 1921. Landed out here on a ranch with Jim Elms and tried my hand at raising chickens (the real feathered variety) for a year and then went back to Providence to close up my insurance business there. Came back to Los Angeles in the fall of 1922 and have been here ever since. Have done a little building, selling electric tools and am now back in the insurance business as a broker and it looks like I will be here for some time to come.

In 1918 I married Laura Edith Yeomans of East Orange, N. J., and we still are hitched in spite of the fact that we live in Hollywood and have been here since 1923.
